Balance of World Power Shifts From U.S., Kennedy Says

Accuses Republicans of 'Stand-Still Philosophy'

BY JACK BELL

San Francisco — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today the balance of world power is shifting and the nation must "start moving again" under a new Democratic president.

In what he called the "official beginning" of his campaign in the home state of his opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Democratic nominee assailed President Eisenhower and what he called the "stand-still philosophy" of the Republicans.

"A do-nothing party will not do," he said at an airport rally. "Four more years of a Republican president blocking action by a Democratic congress will not do."

"What we need — what we seek — what this campaign is intended to bring is action instead of drift; leadership, not salesmanship, and dedication, in place of mediocrity."

Kennedy flew to California after campaign yesterday in New England. At Portland, Maine, he got a rousing reception from homecoming crowds on a downtown street.

Police had to help him push his way through a broadcast studio for a TV news conference, and Kennedy remarked "we're hopeful of Maine in November."

He went to Portland by way of Boston in his home state of Massachusetts and Manchester, N. H. At each stop, he told his audiences New England's economic problems.

President Signs Foreign Aid Bill

Washington — President Eisenhower has signed a bill appropriating $3,722,350,000 for foreign aid. He had appealed to congress for a larger sum.

Although congress did provide $65 million more in another bill, the total bill was $494,354,000 less than Eisenhower asked for military and economic assistance abroad this year.

The extra $65 million was earmarked for defense support — aid to countries which are maintaining for collective defense large military establishments in proportion to their economic resources.

Lodge Starts His Political Campaign

New York — Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving the austere dignity of the United Nations behind him, turned to the "rough-and-tumble campaign trail today.

The Republican vice presidential nominee set his open-ended sights on the famed Catskill mountains resort area, and several hours drive from here has been troubled by violence and smuggling for the Yorkers as a summer haven last 60 years.

Hoover Hits Traffic Toll

Proposes Stiffer Penalties for Drunken Drivers

Washington — Carnage on the highways during the Labor day weekend offers stark testimony to the inadequacy of the nation's safety program, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today.

Hoover said in an article in the FBI Law Enforcement bulletin that in some states drunk driving is classed as a simple misdemeanor, involving a light penalty and no suspension of the driving privilege.

"It would appear just as logical to free a crazed man who had been firing a gun on a crowded street and return his weapon to him."

"Two of the greatest dangers on our roads are the drunken and reckless drivers. Why should anyone feel compassion for them? Their actions show as much disregard for law and order as do the acts of a burglar who follows a carefully laid plan to steal in the night. Also, in many instances, they are a far greater threat to human safety."

"Just as thorough research and positive action we have isolated and conquered the germs which cause many dread diseases, so can we remove the slaughterers who litter our highways with broken and battered bodies. But it cannot be done by showing pity or offering excuses for those who wantonly violate the basic rules of traffic safety."

No Sign of Agreement in PRR Walkout

Mediator Calls Separate Sessions With Union, Road

Philadelphia — The Pennsylvania railroad and two striking unions that have halted its operations appeared today to be virtually as far from a settlement of their dispute as when it began.

Statements by the top PRR executives and President Michael J. Quill of the Transport Workers union showed neither party had budged much in its stand since the strike started Thursday.

With the full effects expected to be felt and to mount rapidly after Labor day, six governors and eleven mayors in a joint telegram to the disputants said yesterday the strike could and should be settled before the weekend was over.

Separate Meetings Federal Mediator Francis O'Neill, Jr., called separate sessions today of railroad and union bargaining teams. He hoped to lay the groundwork for another joint meeting and perhaps, a meeting of the top executives of the PRR, TWU and the system federation, another non-operating union joining in the strike with the TWU.

Since the strike against the nation's largest railroad began Thursday there have been no joint sessions, despite the almost continuous intervention of Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, the city in which the PRR plays a vital economic role.

As the nation's largest railroad, the PRR strike effects also were being felt from New York to St. Louis and the first complaints of delayed freight shipments were being heard.

Congo's Premier Tries To Stamp Out Revolt in Eastern Part of Nation

BY ANDREW BOKOWIEC

Leopoldville, the Congo — Opposition to Premier Patrice Lumumba's swing toward leftist dictatorship mounted today as he pressed his campaign to stamp out rebellion in the eastern Congo.

As U. N. officials counted nearly 300 dead in Kasai province fighting, reports reached here that the Russians had stepped up their aid to Lumumba by providing him cargo planes.

Some of the 10 Soviet IL14 planes that arrived in Stanleyville have been repainted with the words "Congo Republic" on their sides, these reports said. Stanleyville, capital of the northeast province of Oriental, is Lumumba's chief base of operations in the eastern Congo. About 100 Russian trucks already are in the interior.

At last reports, Lumumba's Congo army was locked in a see-saw battle with tribal supporters of Kasai secessionist leader Albert Kalonji. The fighting was centered around Bakwanga, capital of Kalonji's so-called "mineral state."

Decrees Criticized Here in the senate, which meets with far less than full membership, angry opposition members demanded that Lumumba cancel all the decrees restricting fundamental freedoms. They warned against dictatorship.

They even drew some support from Sen. S. Romandek, a government senator who urged the government not to issue decrees without consulting parliament. While criticizing the opposition's cries of "communism and dictatorship," Romandek said Lumumba should not close opposition.

The Sun said the naval academy is apparently violating a defense department directive prohibiting the use of certain enlisted personnel for personal and domestic chores of officers. Most of these men are Filipinos classified by the navy as stewards, the newspaper said.

Cites Example The Sun said one steward regularly washes, feeds and walks an officers' dog. Another serves coffee in the morning to an officer, his wife and children in the bedrooms of the family.

Kowalski, a West Point graduate and former army colonel, said he had asked Price "to begin an inquiry as soon as possible into the distasteful misuse of Philippine citizens both at the academy and throughout the navy."

"This practice is certainly contrary to the intent of congress and particularly of the explicitly stated view of the subcommittee which investigated this situation last year," Kowalski said.

"This is precisely the kind of thing which the committee was out to prevent."

"When I see and read of this kind of flouting of congress by the military, their utter contempt for the taxpayer's dollar and their criminal waste of money, I wonder how the secretary of defense dares to ask the increase of a single man for the services until this costly and undemocratic abuse is stopped."

Tears Up U. S. Treaty

Castro Plans Ties With Red Chinese

BY RICHARD VALERIANI

Havana — Smashing the meddles in this hemisphere, western hemisphere's united front against Red China, Fidel Castro announced last night, "the declaration of Cuba will establish diplomatic ties with the Peiping regime."

The bearded prime minister broke the news at a rally of hundreds of thousands of cheering followers. He climaxed his fiery speech by dramatically tearing up the Cuba-U. S. Mutual defense treaty of 1952 and throwing away the pieces.

Bristling with defiance, Castro declared his revolutionary regime was breaking with the nationalist Chinese government and switching ties, making Cuba the first nation in the Americas to recognize communist China.

"From this moment we end our relations with the regime of Chiang Kai-shek," he proclaimed to the cheering crowd massed for a so-called assembly of the Cuban people.

Castro hailed the people's assembly as a mark of pure Cuban democracy and challenged other Latin American republics to hold similar rallies.

Ties with All Reds He accused the United States of trying to isolate the Soviet Union and red China from the western hemisphere and served notice his government would establish diplomatic relations with all communist countries.

Finns Cool As Khrushchev Tours Plant

Helsinki, Finland — Nikita S. Khrushchev toured a Finnish electric turbine plant today and got a stand-offish reception.

The Soviet premier went to one of Finland's finest plants, the Stromberg Electric Works, just outside the capital.

Finns told foreign correspondents with the Khrushchev party that the people normally didn't show much animation. They didn't today.

Only at the end of Khrushchev's trip through the plant did a relatively large group—perhaps a hundred or more—gather on a landing and staircase to see him leave. They were silent.

Khrushchev seemed disappointed and showed little enthusiasm in return. He found a Russian-speaking Finnish worker who said "we welcome you and thank you for all your great work."

Khrushchev, making his way through the crowd of a hundred correspondents and photographers jammed into a tiny corridor, walked over and shook hands with the thin, graying blond workman, named Oleg Sidorov.

The Soviet premier told Sidorov that Russia was producing 60 million tons of steel this year, would produce 71 million tons next year, and by 1980 would produce 240 million tons.

Hearing Sought for Youth Held in Killing

Milwaukee — Counselor Leroy Pinkowski, 19, who is charged with first degree murder in the knife slaying Wednesday of Dianna Mae Zibolsky, 14, will seek to have the husky, tattooed machine hand brought back to district court for a preliminary hearing.

The mother and grandmother Pinkowski arranged for two attorneys to defend the youth Friday after the gum-chewing youth, showing no emotion, waived preliminary hearing before Dist. Judge Christ T. Seraphim on the first degree murder charge.

Dianna Mae was stabbed in the back with a razor-sharp letter opener as she sat in a suburban West Allis park with Pinkowski.

Ask for Hearing The youth's attorneys, John J. Foley and Peter Flessas, asked Judge Seraphim to take the case back for a preliminary hearing. The judge said he could not do so because he had advanced the case for trial in municipal court after the youth had refused counsel, admitted the charges and waived the hearing.

Judge Seraphim advised the attorneys to ask municipal court to return the case for a preliminary hearing. Foley and Flessas said they would do this on Tuesday. Pinkowski remained in custody.

Thompson Fighting For Political Life

Former Governor's Try Draws Much Attention in State

BY JOHN WINGARD

LaCrosse — A Republican congressional nomination contest in which a former Wisconsin governor is making a hard fight for political survival is attracting interest beyond the 10 southwestern counties immediately involved.

Vernon W. Thomson, Richland Center, whose long career in state politics was seemingly ended abruptly when he was defeated for the governorship two years ago, is trying to make a come-back as the endorsed candidate of the third district congressional nomination.

But district politicians regard his fate as in doubt. A young lawyer and former small claims court judge of LaCrosse county, John Bosshard, is pushing him hard. While Thomson is the favorite in the judgment of some of the district's seasoned GOP politicians, the typical forecast is for an exceedingly close margin.

Squeezed Through The circumstances under which Thomson won the district party organization's backing are suggestive. He squeezed through with a six vote margin over Bosshard. That incident remains a clue problem of 1960 is the fact to the probably close division among the Republican voters of the district.

As the largest county in the district, LaCrosse will have an out-size voice in the decision. Bosshard is banking heavily on leading Thomson here. As a result of his earlier campaign here for county prosecutor and judge, Thomson is most widely known in the district as a whole, and especially in the counties southward with loyal Republican voting records. The Richland Center lawyer and politician served nearly 20 years in the legislature before he rose to the attorney generalship for two terms, and climaxed his rise with election as governor in 1956.

Rigorous Campaign The winner of the Sept. 13 nomination will face another rigorous campaign for the general election, in a district where the Democrats have gained steadily in recent years and where farm unrest makes them confident of winning their first congressional election in history this fall.

The Republican nominee will face Norman Clapp, Lancaster, unopposed for the Democratic nomination. He is a native of Appleton and a graduate of Lawrence college. He was the unsuccessful Democratic nominee in the last two elections.

The congressional vacancy next term will result from the retirement of veteran Rep. Gardner Withrow, LaCrosse. Withrow is backing Thomson for his party's nomination, a fact that has caused some resentment in district party circles but is regarded by Thomson's friends as a considerable advantage. After a lifetime of politics in this neighborhood, Withrow has a considerable circle of friends and campaign workers.

Agricultural Conditions More than in most of the congressional districts of Wisconsin, electoral sentiment in the southwestern counties day, according to Katherine Lochschmidt, clerk-treasurer. Democrats have been the pouncing relentlessly at the exception of the police will be farm disgruntlement for the closed Monday.

last three years. Both Bosshard and Thomson have keynoted their own speeches and campaign publicity, for the most part, on their own farm program proposals. Neither of them has had any kind words to say about the national farm program of today. Both have played down Sec. of Agriculture Benson, the favorite whipping boy of Clapp and his Democratic cohorts.

Thomson says he would insist upon a "secretary of agriculture who will fight as vigorously for the farmer and his needs as the secretary of labor fights for the working man or the secretary of commerce fights for the businessmen."

Own Program Thomson wants farmers to have the right to evolve their own national farm programs, through a referendum device. He has endorsed more liberal farm credit, an expanded soil bank and conservation reserve program, more active exportation of American farm produce, and the creation of a "food bank," using surplus farm commodities as a national defense method.

Bosshard tells audiences that the crux of the farm that incident remains a clue problem of 1960 is the fact to the probably close division among the Republican voters of the district.

Most Republican politicians of the state were surprised when Thomson returned to the political wars this year as an aspirant for congressional man, rather than for reinstatement in his previous office of governor. A congressional candidacy by a former governor is unprecedented in modern Wisconsin politics. The impression of the district politicians is that he was persuaded to run, as the neighborhood's best known party spokesman, by party regulars who were worried about the possibility of losing to the Democrats the seat given up by the veteran Withrow. Bosshard nearly upset those calculations when he came within six votes of stopping Thomson's endorsement at a district party caucus last summer.

To Your Good Health

Exercise, High Calorie Foods, Good Posture Helps 'Leanies'

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a teenager with a problem. I am underweight and my shoulders are extremely bony. Is there any special exercise to improve this?"

—R.P."

Yes, most likely you can improve this situation. But first take a look at other members of your family. If they are all lean, with bones showing prominently, don't expect to convert yourself into a roly-poly bundle of curves! Ancestry counts!

On the other hand, there are at least three things that will help, even if you come from lean stock.

First, the "leanies" who get in the habit of eating high calorie foods (malted milk, extra butter and cream, slightly larger meals) will fatten up a bit, and make the shoulder bones less prominent.

Second, exercise of almost any kind will improve your muscle tone, and the improved muscle structure also will tend to give you smoother curves instead of that bony look you dislike. Push-ups and other exercises which put the chest muscles to work will help.

Third, teenagers who are on the thin side almost always find that the next few years automatically bring a filling out. Yes, I know that when you're young, the next few years sound like a long time. All the same, many girls who thought they were too thin in high school have turned into beauties by the time they became 18 or 20. And they stayed slim and pretty while some of the others had to struggle with reducing diets!

This may sound like a lot of Pollyanna stuff to you now, but it isn't. It's hard fact, as you will realize later. There's one more important word of advice I want to give you, and I truly hope you will keep it in mind. There is one thing that will make you shoulders lovely even if they always stay too bony. That's gracefulness.

The secret of the most successful models—examine the photos in the fashion magazine—30-30 win over Berg cleaners zines — is grace. They are thin, but they stand, and walk and pose gracefully.

How do you get that way? You'll find that nearly all of them are, and have been, physically active. (Modeling is hard work.)

They are slim, often to the point of being downright skinny. But they don't slouch. They stand up proudly. You can do that, too—but you can't do it if you let your mind focus on the fact that your shoulders are bony. If you just accept the fact that you are slim, and that being slim is nothing to be ashamed of, and if you'll get plenty of exercise, you'll find that what you now think is a handicap may turn out to be quite the opposite. Give it a try!

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why would a child like to chew on burnt matches? My 15-month-old waits until you light a cigarette and then wants to chew on the match. Is it something lacking in his system?—L.P.C."

I doubt if it's anything lacking—but maybe he has some teeth coming in and wants something to bite on. In any event, don't let him chew matches. There can be traces of irritating chemicals. He also may get splinters or even choke on the match stick. Keep the matches away from him.

Infection Indicated NOTE TO M.E.L.: This coughing and spitting means some sort of infection. I can not say what, from the description, but obviously every pressure should be exerted to see that this man goes to a doctor. The rest of you should not have to take the risk that his trouble may be contagious.

For my pamphlet, "The Pre-Menstrual Blues," write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling. (Copyright, 1960)

Appleton Girl Rides Water Buffalo During Summer Visit to Philippines

BY NANCY HENNIG

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When an American Field service scholar from Appleton High school returns to her classes here this month, she will be telling friends how she rode a water buffalo and was honorably adopted by the town and province where she stayed.

Miss Mary Paulette Lawless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawless, 1225 W. Lawrence street, has spent the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Eugenio Raymundo and their four children in Morong, Rizal, a town of about 35,000 about 35 miles from Manila, Philippine islands.

Miss Lawless, who will be a senior at Appleton High school, has been attending classes in Morong, where the school year runs from June to March. Her "adopted" Filipino family has acquainted her with their customs and given her opportunities for unique experiences.

One of the most unusual was the day she went to the rice fields with her "sister," Aida, and several classmates. She wrote her parents:

Rides Water Buffalo "I wish you could have seen me riding astride the carabao (water buffalo). The natives were surprised when I spoke Tagalog (the national Filipino language, a Spanish dialect) to them. At first they just stared, but then they laughed and smiled. We ate our lunch in one of the nipa huts. We had rice, meat, mangoes and bread—everything eaten with the fingers."

Although Miss Lawless didn't write her parents about her honorary adoption by the town of Morong and province of Rizal, they learned of it through a Kimberly-Clark employee who had seen her picture and the announcement in the Manila Times Aug. 2.

She said that one of the experiences she will recall the longest was the welcome she was given June 12 when she arrived in Morong.

"When we were about 100 yards from the town, the 'father' stopped the car and said I should walk to the town from there. All of Morong was out to greet me. The high school band, the scouts, school children, city officials and the youngest to the oldest were there to give me a very warm reception.

Hang Welcome Signs "Even 'Welcome Maria Lawless' signs were up. The children called 'Hello, Maria,' in broken English. The band met me and led me to the 'plaza' of the town. There more city officials, including the mayor, came out to greet me. They held a program in my honor with many speeches, folk dances and singing.

"There was even a poem composed in Tagalog about me! I was requested to give a speech, so I thanked them for Raymundo home were the welcome and ended with the simple word, 'Salamat!' When they heard the familiar word to her new way of life. 'Thank you very much' they broke into a rousing cheer.

"I was taken to my new home. It's very nice and looks like the huts you see in pictures—but it's made of wood. They have a custom of removing their shoes before entering the home, so I do it, too. Then I slip my feet into some straw slippers.

Typhoon Advances She also witnessed the advance of Typhoon Olive.

"At 2 a. m. I peeked outside and saw the palm trees were bent clear to the ground. The whole world seemed to be attracted to some invisible magnet—everything was at a slant. The Morong river gave out and the streets became branches of the river. Men were actually fishing in the streets."

At first she was attending high school classes from 7:30 a. m. to 5:22 p. m. as the Filipino teenagers do. But later, because she is a visitor, receives no credit for her classes and is on "vacation," it was decided to lighten her schedule so she would have more time to see the country and meet the people.

Wedding Ceremony She had an opportunity to witness a Filipino wedding ceremony and took an active part in serving refreshments to the 500 guests.

"After plucking a few hunks of chicken, slaughtering a dozen pigs and baking hundreds of breads, the people formed a customary procession from the bridegroom's to the bride's house. I carried a basket of vegetables on my head like the women do."

When Miss Lawless returns she can compare notes with Juan Carlos Scipione, from had a 3-hour audience with Argentina, who will be attending Appleton High school this year.

Beware Of An Empty Tank, Jenkel Says

Think of cold weather to- day? How could we, comes the cry of homeowners from all over the city.

Furnace oil may be the last thing you want to think about right now, but a summer fill of Skelly Furnace Oil can mean big savings for you next winter, according to John Jenkel, owner and manager of Jenkel Oil company, 1201 N. Badger avenue.

Jenkel strongly advises customers to keep their fuel oil tank filled at all times with Skelly Oil. This, he said, will prevent the formation of rust and condensation inside the tank during warm weather.

Skelly Furnace Oil has SK-12 additive. The Jenkel Oil company states that although SK-12 costs you nothing extra, it can keep your entire fuel system free. It prevents or retards formation of gum, sludge and rust that cause most sudden furnace failures.

Since the fuel pipe in your furnace ends in an opening no bigger than a pin point, even a tiny particle of sludge or gum can clog your furnace burner. With SK-12 in Skelly Furnace oil, you can prevent most cases of sudden oil stoppage due to a clogged nozzle, filter screen, or fuel line.

Jenkel Oil company has a fleet of trucks that delivers Skelly Furnace Oil promptly and with convenient metered service. The customer receives a printed receipt, from the meter on the truck to show accurate delivery of the customer's purchases.

Jenkel Oil company is also the distributor of Skelly gasoline, greases and oils in the Appleton area. The phone number for fast, dependable service is RE 9-1144

The students in the driver course this year spent 14 hours of classroom instruc- tion before they were taken out in the cars.

They then had three weeks of driving lessons, two hours a week. In some cases more was given when it was neces- sary.

Of the total of 235 students, 78 were of high school age, and 157 were adults. Bertram said that with very few excep- tions these students passed their drivers tests on the first try.

Cultural Exchanges With the Soviets

The United States is carrying on a number of cultural exchanges with the Soviet Union in the hopes of bringing about a better understanding between the peoples of the two nations. Americans have felt that more knowledge of America on the part of the Russians would bring about a change in the outlook of the Russians toward the Americans. Likewise, the Americans might have a new outlook on the Russians if they knew more about them and their cultures.

In an effort to find out just what the results of these exchanges are, a Senate internal security subcommittee has looked into the matter and filed a lengthy report.

It says the Soviet Union is using the cultural exchange program to downgrade America in the eyes of the Russian people; that Khrushchev finds this exchange to his liking and is apt to continue it so long as it appears to him to be a valuable device for this purpose. If the program is cancelled, Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) committee chairman, says it will be solely because Khrushchev has decided it no longer is of value to him for this purpose.

The 31-page report is entitled, "The United States Through the Eyes of Soviet Tourists." It includes excerpts from articles which appeared in Soviet publications about life in America. Without exception the articles present the gloomier side of American life. Obviously the committee members were disappointed to find nothing favorable in the Russian press as a result of Soviet tourists returning from America.

However, the federal officers who are directing the exchange program say that while this report is accurate enough they believe it has overemphasized this one aspect. They say they never had any notion the Russians were going to print glowing accounts of America. They know that the Soviet press is state-controlled and obviously would print the derogatory articles.

It is possible, as suggested, that Russian tourists returning from America are carrying some very interesting accounts of America which do not appear in the Russian press but which nevertheless may be influencing public opinion in Russia. American visitors to Russia have reported that the Russian people are quite friendly toward Americans and have a tremendous curiosity about all things American. It seems likely that this curiosity has been stimulated by reports from America which probably have not been published in the official papers.

Needed: Doctors

Thousands of eager students are arriving on college campuses this fall and more and more graduate students are working for higher degrees. But the medical profession is missing out on the riches. Applications at medical schools dropped from more than 22,000 to about 15,000 between 1950 and 1958.

The need in the years ahead can be desperate. The population of the nation is increasing. Few people scorn medical treatment. More and more industries pay part of the medical care of employees and there are signs that government will get more involved at least for the needy and aged. All these factors mean that more people will be demanding medical attention in the years ahead but there will be fewer doctors to care for them.

Last year the American Medical association had more than 1,000 requests from small communities for help in finding a physician. In the days of the specialist, the general practitioner gets harder to find and small towns want general practitioners. The newspapers have been filled with stories of the extent to which little cities have gone in luring doctors into residency.

Highway Speeds Increase

The average speed of traffic on Wisconsin's highways has increased approximately 7.5 miles per hour during the past 15 years. The Safety Division of the Motor Vehicle Department at Madison points out that the average vehicle speed rises about one-half mile per hour every year. This year there was a slight reduction in the average speed of about one-tenth of a mile per hour since the average fell from 54 miles per hour to 53.9 miles per hour. Nevertheless, the constant, over-all trend is to faster travel. Even on stretches of rural highways which have remained practically unchanged over the years, cars have managed to increase their speed on these roads by .44 miles per hour.

The 85 percentile speed of all vehicles increased from 62.8 miles per hour last year to 63.2 miles per hour this year. The 85 percentile speed is a speed at which, or below which, 85 per cent of the vehicles checked were moving. The 85 percentile speed is recognized by many traffic experts as the point at which the speed limit for a highway should be set.

In the future, as the highways are improved, it is likely that the speeds will increase more rapidly. On the interstate highways, during the past year, an average speed of 60 miles per hour was recorded and the 85 percentile speed was 68.6 miles per hour. On non-interstate highways Wisconsin cars were moving at a slightly higher average speed than a year ago although the average was held down somewhat by out-of-state cars which were clocked at slightly reduced average speeds.

Wisconsin law limits automobiles to 55 miles per hour during darkness and 65 miles per hour at other times. It is possible to require lower speeds on Wisconsin highways than the 55-65 limits prescribed. However, it is not permissible to increase those speeds under any conditions.

The Wisconsin Traffic Safety Reporter points out that the uniform vehicle code, a suggested national ordinance drafted by a special committee of motor vehicle administrators, police officers and others in the field, sets the speed limits at 55 miles per hour at night and 60 miles per hour in daytime but it permits those limits to be raised as well as reduced by zoning authorities. The adoption of the uniform vehicle code by Wisconsin would permit the regulation of speeds at the 85 percentile figure which would tend to keep it in line with the actual practice on Wisconsin's highways.

Since the Wisconsin Highway Motor Vehicle Department has the figures on speeds on practically all Wisconsin roads, the adoption of the uniform vehicle code would permit the application of the 85 percentile rule to the great benefit of motorists and, no doubt, to the benefit of the state since enforcement of speed limits under this rule would require much less effort. To date, however, the uniform vehicle code has not been offered to the state legislature.

Winnebago Aviation Committee Chairman Answers Our Criticism

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We have no desire to get into a running argument with our Outagamie county neighbors, but your editorial comment last week, together with a contribution by Mr. Gordon Bubolz, requires that your readers be apprised of some facts which were completely ignored in both articles.

First of all, your editorial of Aug. 25 states that people from Outagamie county and Neenah-Menasha went to Oshkosh to "discuss the proposed joint airport" with the Winnebago county aviation committee. In a letter dated July 14, 1960 and signed by Mr. Alvin Fulmer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, and Mark Catlin, Jr., Chairman of the Outagamie county aviation committee, a request was made for a meeting with our committee to discuss various proposals and findings of the airport consultant. This communication was acknowledged and a meeting was arranged for Aug. 1, 1960.

At this meeting Mr. Catlin was asked what Outagamie county expected of Winnebago county and if, as the Fisher survey advocates, they wanted us to abandon our port. To this Mr. Catlin replied, "No, all we want you to do is to hear the Fisher report." He stated that their committee did not feel qualified to interpret the report and advised us that there were some matters in the report which would be of interest to people in our area.

After this request, we tentatively agreed to such a meeting with the Outagamie airport committee, subject to the wishes of our county board. At our next board meeting, after much discussion and despite much adverse opinion, our committee convinced the board that such a meeting should be held. The board's action was to the effect that the meeting be held in the Winnebago county court house, and that interested supervisors and the general public be invited to listen to the proceedings. It was certainly not intended to be a public hearing, but a meeting of the aviation committee.

All the members of our committee had been furnished a copy of the Fisher report from the Outagamie committee, but as we found time to read and digest it, we realized that it contained a number of errors — statistics which were not up to date, and some conclusions which were very questionable.

We decided then to compile our observations and reactions to the report so that the public — everyone interested — would have complete information upon which to draw conclusions.

We reiterate: The meeting was not a public hearing. It was never contemplated to be a public hearing by either committee, nor was it ever publicly announced as anything but a meeting of the aviation committee under the orders of our county board. We are sorry if anyone was under a different impression.

Your editorial uses the word "facts" referring to the Fisher report, but you do not make any comment on the difference in the "facts" as we have found them. Wouldn't it have been in the interest of fairness had you checked our figures, and after finding them to be correct, used them in your editorial?

Our county board chairman, Mr. Drexler, was taken to task because he didn't read a telegram from a North Central official. In the first place, we believe the telegram, apparently solicited by Mr. Catlin or by someone close to him, was a message to the Winnebago county board through Mr. Drexler, as it was so addressed. Secondly, it was one of many other communications received by him, all of which are held for presentation to the full county board when it again convenes. Thirdly, it is felt that this telegram was only one more expression of North Central's long-held position of favoring only one stop in this area. You will recall the airline's opposition to providing service at the Outagamie county airport.

We are particularly concerned by this unfortunate statement of yours: "It is a tragedy when elected officials, responsible for providing convenient and safe facilities for the public and for prudently investing the taxpayers' money (the Fisher proposal would save over a half million dollars of county, state and federal funds) close their minds like this."

Do you mean to imply that our committee and our board has failed in these respects? That we haven't provided a convenient and safe airport? That we haven't prudently invested the funds expended in the past?

And, in the next breath, you repeat the notion that abandonment of a two million dollar facility will save a half million dollars.

Our minds aren't closed. Mr. Editor, and neither are our eyes. We respectfully suggest you use yours to examine the figures now available to you and presented in our report, rather than continue to ignore them while repeating fanciful estimates and casting unfounded aspersions.

We assume you will publish this entire letter inasmuch as you printed Mr. Bubolz's lengthy epistle in your issue of Aug. 26, and especially since Mr. Bubolz says that "the Appleton Post-Crescent run's" articles expressing both points of view in order that the public might be better informed."

To begin with, Outagamie county has struggled with its airport situation for 15 years (Post-Crescent — 11-4-59), with several surveys resulting, experts having been hired by the county as well as by at least one private individual.

When the Fisher Associates report, they arrived at one obvious conclusion — that one commercial, airline port should serve this area. We differ with Mr. Fisher in this conclusion only as to the location of this airport to best serve the entire area.

In his letter to bolster the Fisher report, Mr. Bubolz insists on using an enplanement percentage of 66 per cent as being from the Neenah-Menasha and Appleton area. This statistic was taken from the figures for one month, (February, 1960), rather than later, more up-to-date figures. Why was February chosen, when the Brown County figures cited in the report were from May, 1960?

The figures we use are those for the last three months, May, June and July, and the percentage for the same area is 47.6 per cent in these three months, the remaining 52.4 per cent being from Oshkosh and points south and west. And during this past three-month period, the total enplanement of Neenah, Menasha and Appleton area people at both Winnebago and Outagamie airports was 53.8 per cent of the total passengers enplaned.

If Neenah-Menasha passengers were removed from this total, you will find that only 13.6 per cent of all passengers enplaned at both airports were from Outagamie County.

Mention is made several times of our committee's "decision." If Mr. Bubolz wants to call it that, so be it. Nevertheless, it is our report to our county board and the public, painstakingly prepared, but ready in time to present to the Outagamie airport committee, to contribute to their understanding of our position, and to help all to make a proper approach to an area problem — in which we realize Winnebago county is a vital part.

The so-called "saving" of $271,000 to Winnebago county was carefully qualified by Mr. Fisher, but Mr. Bubolz tosses it off without considering these things:

1. That the total public investment (federal, state and county) is close to $2,000,000 including the current project.
2. The current program totals $599,000.
3. The permanent improvements of private individuals and corporations on the airport premises exceeds $500,000.

4. We have contracts extending for the next 20 years and we could not abandon our port even if we wished.

5. The present extension and improvement plan is committed — the land has been purchased, the engineering and architectural details practically completed and contracts with the federal government already consummated. Thus we cannot consider the current project funds retrievable.

Many other statistics of interest, such as the ground mileage of Winnebago airport users, are presented in our report. You have a copy — why not publish it for the further enlightenment of your readers?

In summary, we wish to repeat that we have complied with the request of the Outagamie county airport committee, we have studiously examined the Fisher

Under the Capital Dome

More Academicians in Wisconsin Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — An itinerant colleague, intrigued by the increasing prominence of academics in national presidential campaigns, has inquired about the participation of so-called "egg heads" in Wisconsin politics.

Wyngaard

The answer is that the academicians are getting into state and local politics more actively each year, and notably on the Democratic side.

In Democratic party politics today there are more professors and others colloquially described by the "egg head" label than ever before in the memory of the veteran politicians of the state.

In Madison, the phenomenon is particularly conspicuous. There probably are 30 to 40 University of Wisconsin men and women now identified as party activists. As the Milwaukee University of Wisconsin community grows they are becoming more visible in the affairs of the metropolis, too. Mayor Henry Maier pointedly surrounded himself with academic experts. Gov. Gaylord Nelson relies more upon some of his close friends from the cloisters of the Madison campus than has generally been realized.

When a reporter visits some of the campuses of Wisconsin higher education institutions, he is inclined to wonder occasionally why there are no Republicans who are working on the social science faculties.

WHY

My colleague wanted to know about the motivations of these academic Democrats. What gets them into the active political party ranks?

These are questions that require some guess-work and the factors obviously vary from individual to individual. But friends on one Wisconsin campus who are qualified to assess such matters suggest that the motivation range from idealism, to a desire for recognition, the craving to see one's classroom lecture ideas tried out in practice, and the self-improvement motive, the desire for personal experience that can contribute to classroom authority.

The chances are that these reasons are involved, in some combination, in the motives of most of the professors who are active in politics.

We don't believe the door has been closed to negotiations for a joint airport. We do believe, however, that talks about an area airfield should include the entire area to be served. That is, representatives from other neighboring communities now using the Winnebago county terminal should take part in any such discussions.

Finally, we are convinced that on the basis of findings of the Wisconsin State Aeronautics commission, arrived at after holding public hearings, the Winnebago county airport is properly situated, in the overall state aviation plan.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Campaign lament: Oh, Kennedy lost his voice and Nixon lost his knee. If the country's to be saved, it's up to me and thee.

It's been proved the Democrats couldn't stop Kennedy. Now the question is: Can they start him?

No sooner did Nixon enter the hospital with a bum knee than 10,000 Democrats posed the question: "Can the country stand a weak-kneed president?"

Actually, Nixon is after the women's vote. It's announced he has a bad case of housemaid's knee.

Jack Kennedy names a non-political committee on foreign policy. It's truly bi-partisan—represents all shades of Democratic opinion.

Census says 88 per cent of American homes have TV sets. The other 12 per cent are willing to take it on faith that the Indians lost.

Campaign what-they-means: "If the election were today, we'd sweep the country." . . . The way this thing's going, if the election were tomorrow, it might be 24 hours too late.

Railroad Step Closer to Appleton

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 1, 1860.

Thursday next the contract for building the railroad from Oshkosh to Appleton is to be let by the North Western Railroad Company in Chicago. Every arrangement has been made to complete the road to Appleton by Jan. 1 next as responsible men and old experienced contractors stand ready to do the work.

William B. Ogden, the Great Railroad King, P. H. Smith, Esq., and other officers of the road visited Appleton last week and made offers of assistance which we think must insure the completion of the road to this city or Fort Howard within one year at the farthest.

An Monday evening Mr. Ogden talked to the people of Fort Howard upon the importance and feasibility of a road to that place. His arguments of course were sound, as no man in the country knows more about or has had greater success in building railroads. We learn that he left the people (with but two or three exceptions) willing and anxious to do anything reasonable in their power to secure a railroad at the earliest possible moment.

Terrified remnants of two communist divisions fled in rout as tanked allied infantrymen attacked at vital points all along the 120-mile Korean front.

President Truman announced that American fighting strength would be doubled to nearly 3,000,000 men to meet the threat of communist aggression. He said in a report to the nation that red gains in Korea had reached their peak and predicted the invaders would be crushed.

The Appleton Community fund quota for 1950 was $66,000, 10 per cent higher than in 1949.

Reservation Provides Matchless Scenery for Fox Cities Residents

Fall Soon Will Set Wilderness Area Aflame With Color; Fishing, Camping Available by Permit

BY JAY REED
own intimate knowledge of the water. I did no serious fishing during my stay on Keshena—One of mid-America's major outdoor beauty attractions lies little more than an hour's driving time from the Fox Cities.

Nature has not yet applied her brush to the sprawling Menominee Indian reservation but the huge wilderness area soon will be aflame with color and Fox Cities residents who thrive on breath-taking scenery should make it a point to plan a trip here.

Camping and fishing is by permit only. But you don't have to worry about this technicality if you just want to drive and absorb the beauty of this land as yet unspoiled by white man. If you intend to fish or camp, permits are available at Keshena and Neopit.

This writer spent two days on the reservation as a guest of the Menominees. I found the time too short for there is much to do and much to be seen here.

Beauty of Wolf
If you are used to fishing the Wolf river, as this writer is, you'll find it hard to believe that the muddy, sluggish stream you know in the Fremont-New London area is the same one which roars across boulders and down rocky falls here.

North of Keshena toward Neopit, for instance, is a place called Rainbow Falls. It was named well, for the Wolf has color here like you have never seen in water before.

Here you will find the "pot of gold" they speak of at the end of the rainbow. The Wolf roars down a rocky gorge toward the first fall. It gathers speed then and whips around a bend to batter huge, gray boulders. When it comes out, the water is white with foam and hurrying toward a wider opening where, at the end of the Rainbow (falls that is), it catches the sun and gleams a dull yellow like natural gold.

There is a good camp site on a high point of land overlooking Sand lake deep in the reservation's interior. You reach this lake by taking Highway 47-55 to Keshena. Turn right at the Indian Agency office in Keshena and travel for about a mile until you reach a 3-pronged fork in the road. Take the black-topped road which is unmarked. This is a smooth road, as are all of the secondary roads and trails on the reservation.

Look for Sign
The entrance to Sand lake is marked by a brown and yellow sign on the right side of the road. It is exactly one mile from the highway to the camp site along a single track road. Drive this road slowly for there are ruts, hairpin turns and loose sand. Once started you will have to go all the way for there is no place to turn around except at the camp site. The heavy forest reaches out on all sides and you can't go back unless you choose to drive out in reverse.

The lake is a kidney-shaped body of water about two miles long and a mile and a half at its widest point. It has natural pine-scented air conditioning. Its water is unbelievably blue.

There are no boats for rent here, which is the case in most areas of the reservation. You either have to bring your own boat or try to find a reservation resident who'll rent one.

If you intend to fish anywhere on the tribal land you have to abide by all of the regular conservation laws of the state. That is to say regular bag limits and seasons on all species must be observed. Keep your permit with you at all times along with your regular fishing license.

Land of Lakes
Fishing, generally, has been good on the reservation this year but a white man's success usually depends on his port to training camp next guide, for one thing, or his spring.

Warden Outlines Hunting Seasons For Fall; Notes Some Key Changes

BY CHUCK WRANOSKY
Outagamie County Game Warden

Few changes have been made in hunting regulations for this fall. The changes and the hunting seasons are as follows:

There are three major changes in the deer season: (1) There will be only one general statewide opening — the date being Nov. 19th; (2) The party permit will be legal only north of Highway 29, west of the Fox river and in all of Dunn (except Nine Mile Island) and St. Croix counties; (3) At least two members of a hunting party must be present when a party deer is registered.

The deer season will be as follows:

North of Highway 29, west of the Fox river and including all of Dunn (except Nine Mile Island) and St. Croix counties — November 19-27 — party permit and spike buck.

River Counties
South of Highway 29 except Mississippi river counties and southeastern block — Nov. 19-27 — spike buck only.

Those counties bordering the Mississippi river from Pierce county south — Nov. 19-20 — either sex. Nov. 21-27 — spike buck only.

The southeastern block including Jefferson, Walworth, Waushara, Racine and Kenosha counties — November 19-21 — either sex. Nov. 22-27 — closed.

The Apostle Islands, except Madeline — October 15-November 27 — either sex.

Milwaukee county is the only county closed to deer hunting.

A slight modification in the zone line used for Hungarian partridge, squirrel, ruffed grouse and bobwhite quail seasons has been made. Instead of following Highway 22 through Montello to Wautoma and Waupaca, there is now a jog eastward from Montello on Highway 23 to Princeton then northward on Highway 47 to Wautoma, then north on Highway 22 to Waupaca. This is a very minor change and more clearly defines the primary range of especially quail and Hungarian partridge.

The season on ruffed grouse will be Oct. 1-Nov. 13 in the northern zone, Oct. 22-Nov. 6 in the southeastern zone and Oct. 22 to Dec. 18 in the southwestern zone.

The pheasant season this year will be open Oct. 22 at call of eight players from 12 noon through Nov. 6 — three minor league farm statewide. The bag limit for clubs was announced Friday by the Milwaukee Braves.

Options were exercised on pitcher Tony Diaz and infielder-outfielder Mike Krsnich of the Pacific Coast league; pitchers Jack Caffery and Dennis Overby and infielder Carl Derr of the Texas league.

Gray Squirrels
The season on gray and fox squirrels in the north and western zone is Oct. 1-Jan. 31. The season in the eastern zone is Oct. 22-Jan. 31. The bag limit in the entire state is 5 each day with a possession limit of 10.

The season on cottontail and jack rabbits is concurrent the northern zone. There is no either sex.

Camping is not now and never has been one of my strong points. I've lived in the bush for as long as a week at a time (disregarding that is, four years of outdoor life with the Marine corps) and for several other shorter periods. These were circumstances, however, which necessitated camping.

This week the Brunette and I camped strictly for the sake of camping and it was fun. Elsewhere on this page is an account of our trip into the Menominee Indian reservation. This column, for better or worse, will be devoted to the camping aspects of the trip.

Our camp site was a wonderfully situated piece of high ground on Sand lake deep in the heart of the reservation. We fished only long enough to take five trout which was our main course evening meal. We made our own cooking utensils out of aluminum foil and coat hangers and I can report to you that the system does work.

The Brunette is used to applying her culinary skill in a birchwood kitchen surrounded by gleaming white appliances. But she, with only minor interference from me, prepared two delicious meals using nothing more than a frying pan and a couple of pots fashioned from aluminum foil.

We had trout, fried potatoes, bread and butter and coffee that night on the shore of Sand lake while a warm wind whistled through the trees and dusk slipped in to kiss the water. To make the frying pan, which is the key to this whole business if you want to eat, take an ordinary hanger, grasp the straight wire portion of it in the middle and pull straight out until you have a sort of square. Use the hook part for a handle.

Use double sheets of heavy aluminum foil and cut them down to size a bit larger than the square. Fold the edges around the hanger securely. When you put the food in the pan the paper will sag a bit at the middle but if you've done it right it won't break or fall apart.

We made two other pots with handles by bending hangers to the right size and folding aluminum sheets around the circle. We made drinking cups simply by taking a square of foil, crumpling it about the fist and twisting the end to form a handle.

All of this is perhaps a bit crude and certainly not necessary, for anyone, if he wants to, can carry about anything he needs in the car. We did want to test this system, however, and I would recommend it for any man who intends to go back in the bush and wants to travel light. There is one other distinct advantage. When you are all through you rip away the foil, bury it and your dish washing chores are complete.

We went all the way on the experiment, even using foil for plates. We had fashioned two large forks from a pair of hangers and used these for cooking. For eating, however, we brought along two table knives and forks.

Fishing, as I said before, was strictly secondary on this trip although it need not be for you if you are heading for the reservation. The Brunette for the first trout and she let me know she had a strike by snickering loudly, which is her usual way of announcing that she has a fish. She played it well in the fast water and netted it herself.

The squirrel season. The bag limit is 4 and the possession limit is 8, as previously.

The snowshoe hare season in the north is open all year with no bag limit. In the balance of the state it is Oct. 22 at 12 noon through Jan. 31 with a bag limit of 4 and possession limit of 8.

There is a major change in the raccoon season. The zone line will remain the same as last year. The season in the northern zone will be Oct. 1-Dec. 31 and in the southern zone from Oct. 15 at 12 noon only are Sept. 17 through Nov. 15 and Dec. 3-31—statewide.

The open seasons for hunting deer with bow and arrow will begin Sept. 17 through Nov. 15 and Dec. 3-31—statewide. The bag limit is one deer of either sex.

Deer Season Appears Set

Petitions Being Circulated Against Liberal Harvest

Madison — Reactions of state officials to a petition campaign in northeastern Wisconsin against the liberal deer shooting season set for November show that there is virtually no chance that the deer season order will be rescinded.

The conservation commission's next regular meeting is late this month, which would mean that only an "emergency" order could modify or repeal the deer shoot authorized two months ago for nine days following November 19. Emergency orders are limited to those involving public health or safety, a department spokesman explained.

10,000 Petitions
The petition campaign headed by Ray Thompson of Peshigo, and endorsed by the Northeastern Wisconsin Conservation Council, reportedly involves 10,000 petitions that will be given statewide circulation before presentation to Gov. Gaylord Nelson and the commission.

The complaining group wants a buck shooting season only. The commission approved a so-called "party permit" system for the northern zone of the state, which would allow the taking of large numbers of deer of any size or sex. A spike buck season was provided for most of the central and southern counties in the commission order, which was approved by Nelson without comment.

Conservation department game division spokesmen expressed surprise here when told about the protests from the northeastern group, noting that heretofore "everything had been quiet up north."

Limited Shooting
They recalled also that the compromise deer season order was worked out in consultation with the executive council of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress and the forest industries advisory committee, after the latter protested the limited shooting recommendation originally put before the commission by the delegates of the congress early in the summer.

Forest industry representatives have pressed for more liberal shooting regulations as a means of protecting their forest plantations, and game biologists have endorsed the idea on the ground that the deer are sufficiently abundant to permit a relatively large harvest.

Olympic Heartbreak: Runner Sleeps Through His Qualifying Heats
Rome — P — The Olympic gold medal for hard luck goes to Surinam's 1-man team Wim Essajas, who slept through the qualifying heats of his event.

"It is a disaster," the soft-spoken Essajas sobbed Friday as he lay in a beach chair in the Olympic village. "It is a terrible tragedy. For me it is all over. The finish, the end."

Essajas, an 800-meter runner, said he had been training since 1956 for his one big chance. The trials were scheduled for Thursday afternoon. But officials scheduled them to the morning after the program was printed.

"They told me they tried to awaken me but I don't recall that," he said. So he clambered on.

Improved Fishing Aids Economy in Stockbridge Area

Businessmen Report Tourist Trade May be at Record High for Season

BY DON KAMPFER
Stockbridge — For residents of this lakeshore community, the continued success of Lake Winnebago fishing has meant more than entertainment.

Almost every businessman in Stockbridge has felt the effects of the angling excellence in extra dollars in the till as tourist trade has reached what may be a record high here.

What the fishing boom has done for the village economy cannot be pinned down to any specific dollars and cents figure but in the opinion of many merchants it has been noticeable. The hardware dealer has sold more fishing gear, lures and water sport equipment than ever before; service station operators, grocers and tavern keepers—the village of 471 people has five (taverns within its boundaries)—generally report a similar sharp upswing in tourist trade.

Cottage Owners
Cottage owners are plagued with calls to rent their summer dwellings and have little difficulty in securing solid bookings. A few enterprising residents have bought up old cottages and remodeled them for rental purposes.

After last year's discouraging summer angling season, the big lake has regained its popularity quickly and word has spread to neighboring states.

George Ecker, village clerk, tells of receiving as many as a dozen letters weekly, the majority from Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, seeking information on cottage or cabin facilities. Since there are no "fish camps" or lakeshore motels along the entire east shore, those who could not be accommodated by what few rental cottages there are must go elsewhere.

Pleasure Boats
In August a year ago pleasure boats had the run of the lake since the majority of fishermen had long since given up. This year on a weekend day with good weather as many as 60 boats can be counted fishing off Stockbridge Harbor.

The difference has not been entirely brought about by improved walleye fishing. Anglers who long ago gave up matching wits with the moody and wily walleye while rowing small fishing boats are now comfortably seated in the larger fishing - pleasure boats having a field day with perch.

Ken Bodway, Della Grimm Win Titles

Waupaca — Appleton's Ken Bodway fired the top score (515) in the men's sight division of the recent Fox Valley archery field shoot at the King Archers' course.

Little Chute's Della Grimm won in the women's sight division, with 443. Mary Schmidt route 3, Seymour was second (435); and Appleton's June Ohm was third (400).

New London's Bob Palmer (400) was second to Dr. Donald Peck (421) of Omro in the men's barebow event.

Mel Matheson, Waupaca, took first place in the women's barebow, with 419.

The New London unit won the team match with 18 points in novelty shooting which included a new, 24-inch flying bullseye.

The Green Bay Packers' Veteran quarterbacking duo of Bart Starr, left, and Lamar McHan will share signal-calling and passing duties in Monday's exhibition game against the St. Louis Cardinals. McHan is expected to work the first half in City stadium against his former teammates, and Starr will take over in the second half.

Cardwell, Banks Hit Home Runs; San Francisco Wins

By The Associated Press

Chicago dropped the third-place St. Louis Cardinals eight games behind National league — leading Pittsburgh with a 10-4 victory Friday night. The Pirates were idle.

Milwaukee moved to within 6½ games of the lead with a 9-6 win over Cincinnati. San Francisco shaded Los Angeles, 4-3.

Don Cardwell, a pitcher who has had his lumps this season, turned the tables and smashed two home runs and a single as he pitched and batted the Cubs to victory over the Cardinals. The defeat dropped the Cards a game and a half behind the second place Braves. Cardwell hurled a no-hitter against St. Louis earlier this season.

Banks Homers

Ernie Banks also homered for the Cubs, his thirty-eighth. Larry Jackson was the loser, suffering his twelfth setback against 15 victories. Kenny Boyer accounted for the last two St. Louis runs, smashing his 27th home run in the eighth following Stan Musial's second single.

Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda each drove in two runs in the Giants' victory over the Dodgers. In addition to his two doubles, Alou made a diving catch of Frank Howard's fly in the eighth. The Dodgers knocked out Jack Sanford with a pair of runs in that inning and had the tying runs on base.

The victory was Sanford's twelfth against 11 defeats. Johnny Podres was the victim of the Giants' eight-hit attack that included Cepeda's twenty-third home run, with a man on base.

Packer Ticket Sale Nears 31,000 Mark

Green Bay — The Packers will close their advance season ticket sale Tuesday. Coach Vince Lombardi announced today.

Nearly 31,000 seasons have already been sold for the stadium, which seats only 32,150. The season total probably will exceed 31,000 — an all-time record.

Frank Falduto Named To Athletic Body

Madison — (P) — Frank N. Falduto, 38, sports editor of Kenosha Labor, a weekly newspaper, was appointed to a 5-year term on the State Athletic commission by Gov. Gaylord Nelson Friday.

He succeeds Ray Markey of Milwaukee whose term expired Aug. 20.

Tokyo — Chatchai Lump-hafa, 113 Thailand, knocked out Masanobu Kamabayashi, 113½, Japan, 8.

Ted Sadowski Wins for Washington

Pitcher Ted Sadowski is the second former member of the Fox Cities Foxes to get a trial in the major leagues.

Sadowski, who posted a 9-10 record for the 1958 Foxes, has been purchased by the Washington Senators from their Charleston (W. Va.) farm club of the American association.

The Senators expect to use the right-hander in their drive to finish fourth in the American league.

The other former Fox to wear major league flannels was shortstop "Zorro" Versailles who played with Washington for the final two months of the 1959 season.

Sadowski had only a 3-8 record at Charleston, as of a week ago, but had proved one of the most valuable members of the staff. In one 17-day period he worked 12 times (including two complete games).

Sadowski was credited with a win Friday night when he debuted with a 3-inning relief job.

Americans Capture 6 Firsts In Biggest Day of Olympics

Orioles Only 3 Points Shy of Lead After Blanking Yankees

Milt Pappas Hurls 3-Hit, 5 to 0 Win

By The Associated Press

"This is a good ball club, and if you men do not know it now, you're likely to find it out by Sunday."

These quotes belong to Casey Stengel. This note of warning was part of a speech made by the New York manager to his Yankee players before Friday night's game in Baltimore.

44,518 Roar Approvingly

Casey was right about the Orioles, and his players don't have to wait until Sunday. They saw first hand just how good those Orioles are. With a crowd of 44,518 roaring approvingly, Paul Richards' "Baby Birds" won the opener of the vital three-game series, 5-0, extending their winning streak to five straight.

"I can see why they're up there in the race," Stengel told his players. "Their pitchers pitch 4- and 5-hitters."

The Orioles' Professor muscled slightly. Milt Pappas, Baltimore's 21-year-old flame thrower, allowed the Yankees only three hits—all singles—and permitted only one runner to reach second.

"That infield of theirs does well," preached Casey. "They have good speed and you can't execute the way you want to because they keep you from getting men on base."

Score a bull's eye for the wily old manager. Baltimore's infield not only played flawlessly, but erased the only Yankee threat with a double play. Except for Cletes Boyer and Tony Kubek, who got two hits, no other Yankee reached base. Pappas saw to that by walking none and striking out nine.

3 Points Behind

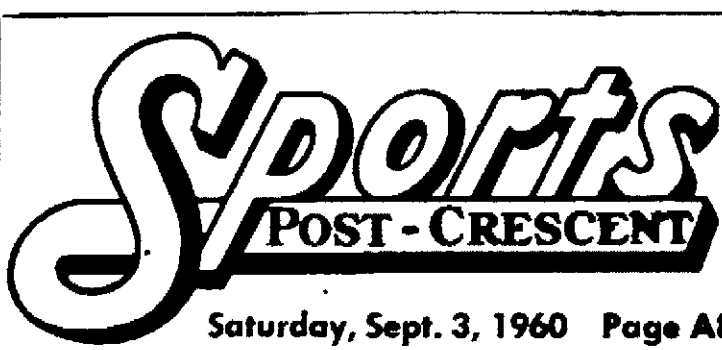

The victory left the Orioles only three percentage points behind the league-leading Yankees.

Chicago's third place White Sox defeated Detroit, 7-5. Cleveland conquered Kansas City, 6-2, and Washington swept a two-night double header from Boston 5-1 and 3-2.

Herb Armstrong, Oriole ticket manager, said that the fans literally tore down fences trying to get into the game.

He said that an estimated 5,000-10,000 were turned away.

Green Bay's Barber Holds Foxes to 2 Hits In Series-Opening Win

Thorsland, Papa Face Dodgers in Doubleheader

By Mike Drew Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Terry Barber, a pint-sized, baby-faced 19-year-old, was all man on the mound Friday night at Goodland field.

The Green Bay Dodger left-hander stifled the Three-I league champion Fox Cities Foxes on two hits, 5-2, in the opener of an 8-game "commuters" series between the clubs.

A $40,000 bonus baby from Fort Worth, Tex., Barber almost "walked" himself right out of the game in the first inning. The Foxes scored both their runs in the frame on four walks and a passed ball.

The 5-7, 148-pound Barber squared himself away after that and finished with 13 strikeouts (and eight walks) while evening his season's record at 9-9.

Five Awards

A "Players' Appreciation Night" of 1,205 saw individual awards go to five Foxes in a between-innings program.

Trophy winners were: top rookie, first basemen "Boog" Powell; most valuable, third basemen - left fielder Pete Ward; top pitcher, Chuck Symeon, and best all-around team player, Cal Ripken. Right fielder Charley Johnson won the season-long poll of fans for the most popular player.

meter medley relay team set a world record of 4:14.1 for its gold medal and Mike Troy, Indianapolis, Indiana butterfly wizard, broke his own world mark with a 2:12.8 triumph in the 200 meter finals.

In the medal race, the Soviets had 15 golds, five silvers and nine bronzes. The Americans had 13 golds, 11 silvers and nine bronzes. Surprising Germany was an unopposed third with 158 points based on five golds, 12 silvers and five bronzes.

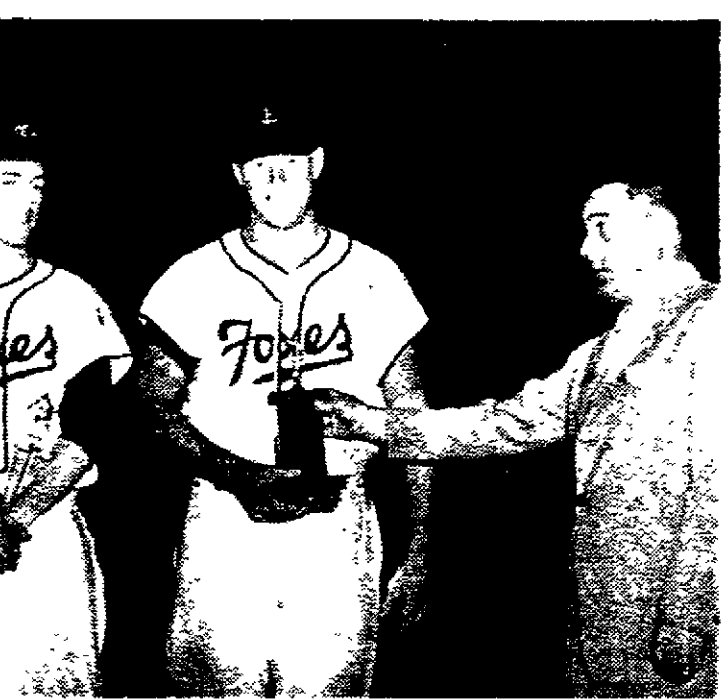

The United States sent all of its entries speeding into the second round of the men's 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter run, and qualified two of its three entries in the women's discus today.

Willie May led the high hurdle qualifiers in the elimination heats with a time of 14 seconds flat. Defending champion Lee Calhoun, Gary, Ind., and Hayes Jones, Pontiac, Mich., also breezed into the second round. All were heat winners.

LC-K Will Open State Tourney Play Monday

Little Chute — After drawing a bye in first round competition, Little Chute - Kimberly opens play at 8 p. m. Monday in the state semi-pro baseball tournament at Milwaukee County Stadium.

The Papermakers will meet the winner of the Milwaukee Schaller-Monona Grove game.

If LC-K is victorious in its first encounter, it will advance to the quarter finals and play at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Adds Strength

Manager Floyd Hammen has added some hitting and pitching strength to the lineup which qualified for the state meet with a victory in district action at the Menasha ball park.

Fritz Heiss, hard hitting first baseman of the Menasha Macs has joined the team for the tourney. Pitchers added to the squad are Wayne Kroll of Crivitz and Al Harke, Kimberly.

Kroll was selected as the best professional prospect in the Menasha tournament. A 19-year-old right hander, Kroll has a good fast ball and change of pace. He lost a 1-0 player and top pitcher awards game to LC-K at Menasha.

Harke was the mainstay of the starting in Fox Valley league competition, the majority of them at the start of the season.

After getting off to a slow start this season, Schmidt has looked sharp of late. In the Menasha tournament he tossed a pair of shutouts by holding Hortonville to one hit and Crivitz to three.

Bill Lappen, Kaukauna left-hander who pitched the championship victory over the Menasha Macs, also will be on the LC-K staff as will regular left hander Faye Mehler.

Davis Leads 1-2-3 Sweep In Hurdles

Rome — (P) — The American Olympic forces enjoyed their biggest day of the seventeenth games Friday when they racked up six gold medals—three in track and field and three in swimming.

Wilma Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn., won the women's 100-meter finals in a great 11 seconds flat.

Ralph Boston, who cracked Jesse Owens' 1936 broad jump mark twice before this year, did it again in winning the men's broad jump. He leaped 26-7½, as against Owens' 26-5½. Bo Robertson, Fort Lee, Va., grabbed the silver with another record breaking 26-7½. Glenn Davis, world record holder of the 400 meter hurdles, proved his right to it by capturing the event just a fraction short of his record. And in this event, the Americans had it 1-2-3 with Cliff Cushman second and Dick Howard third.

In swimming, Bob Webster won the platform diving.

The American women's 400-

meter medley relay team set a world record of 4:14.1 for its gold medal and Mike Troy, Indianapolis, Indiana butterfly wizard, broke his own world mark with a 2:12.8 triumph in the 200 meter finals.

In the medal race, the Soviets had 15 golds, five silvers and nine bronzes. The Americans had 13 golds, 11 silvers and nine bronzes. Surprising Germany was an unopposed third with 158 points based on five golds, 12 silvers and five bronzes.

The United States sent all of its entries speeding into the second round of the men's 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter run, and qualified two of its three entries in the women's discus today.

Willie May led the high hurdle qualifiers in the elimination heats with a time of 14 seconds flat. Defending champion Lee Calhoun, Gary, Ind., and Hayes Jones, Pontiac, Mich., also breezed into the second round. All were heat winners.

Braves Wallop Redlegs, 9-6, Gain Ground

Adcock Homers; Joey Jay Posts Sixth Triumph

By The Associated Press

Time is running out on the Milwaukee Braves, but they continue to hang in there, mainly on the hitting of Joe Adcock and the pitching of Warren Spahn. Spahn, of course, works once every four or five days and was still sitting out his much deserved rest following Tuesday night's shutout of St. Louis. But Adcock was in there and the slugging first baseman contributed heavily to the Braves' 9-6 triumph over Cincinnati Friday night with a home run and single.

The homer was Adcock's third in two days and twenty-second of the season. He is the only Milwaukee regular batting over .300.

Jay Doesn't Finish

The victory inched the Braves within 6½ games of the front-running Pittsburgh Pirates, who enjoyed a day off. With 27 games left, the Braves must win 21 to overtake Pittsburgh, provided the Pirates do no better than split their remaining 26 games.

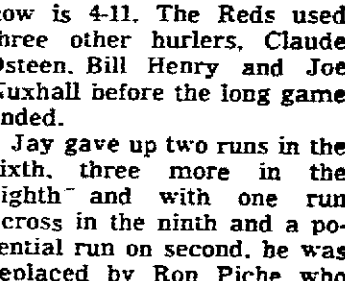

Milwaukee gained a 6-0 lead in the fifth inning against the Reds and made it 9-2 going into the last half of the eighth but it wasn't enough to see Joey Jay finish the game. He needed relief after two were out in the ninth before he gained his sixth victory against seven defeats. The loser was Cal McLish who now is 4-11. The Reds used three other hurlers, Claude Osteen, Bill Henry and Joe Nuxhall before the long game ended.

Jay gave up two runs in the sixth, three more in the eighth and with one run across in the ninth and a potential run on second, he was replaced by Ron Piche who knocked off Frank Robinson to end the game.

The Braves knocked out McLish, a 19-game winner at Cleveland last year, with three runs in the fourth inning. Eddie Mathews led off with a single, and Adcock, Al Dark and Johnny Logan followed with one base blows before Chuck Cottier hit a sacrifice fly and Jay followed with another safe smash.

Milwaukee added three in the fifth when Del Crandall started the fireworks with a

Pete Ward Has 3-Point Lead In Bat Race

Williams, Reimer Threaten; Dasher Tops Homer Hitters

Des Moines' George Williams trails the Fox Cities Foxes' Pete Ward, the leader by just three points in the Three-I league individual batting race.

In games through last Tuesday Williams is hitting .339 to Ward's .342. (Ward has missed the last seven games because of a pulled stomach muscle.)

The Demons' Gerry Reimer, who had been runner-up, dropped back to third, with .337, followed by Joe Ala of Sioux City, with .328.

23 Dasher Homers

Reimer continued to set the pace in hits, with 166, total bases, 274, triples, 12, and runs, 33, followed by most doubles, at 33.

Ward tied Billy Dasher for most runs scored, at 103, with the latter hitting the most home runs, 23, and the most RBIs, 105.

Ward is the only other Three-I league batter with 100 RBIs.

Hank Fischer, Cedar Rapids, retains the top spot in earned run average. He has a 2.17 mark in 166 innings.

Ron Woods, Lincoln, has won the most games, 16, and the most innings, 17. John Booser of Des Moines has worked the most innings, 198. Phil Ortega of Green Bay outfielder went hitless in four games.

The Foxes are tied for first with Des Moines in team batting, at .262, and with Green Bay and Sioux City in fielding, at .961.

standing one as world record holder Thomas, can be beaten. It may have been an off day, or perhaps Long John reacted poorly to pressure.

But the handwriting is clear for all to see that Russia has found the way to develop high jumpers. It used to be said that high jumpers, along with sprinters, were born. The Russians know better.

Yuriy Stepanov, the first great Russian jumper, was dismissed as the freak product of the since outlawed built-up shoe. But Stepanov's training program was there for all to see and it is obviously this program which is paying dividends for the Soviet sky climbers.

The Labor day weekend series will continue with games at Goodland field Sunday and Monday night. Sunday is "Inter-Faith night" with 40 per cent of the proceeds from each ticket going to the church of the purchaser's choice.

Friday's loser was Dean Chance, who gave up eight hits over the 9-inning route. Chance struck out four and walked three and just two of the runs off his pitching were earned.

Usually the most reliable of fielders, quick-handed second baseman "Photti" Anthony committed a pair of errors Friday, one in the third and one in the ninth inning. The game's only two miscues made three of the four Dodger tallies in those two frames unearned.

Second Straight

The loss was the second straight for the Foxes since they clinched the league championship ship Wednesday night. The Foxes' edge over the losers in their season's series was trimmed to 9-4.

Shortstop Bob Saverine and Johnson got the only two hits off Barber, who was 13-8 for a week club at class D Odesa (Texas) last year. Johnson's hit was a looping little fly ball that just eluded second baseman Don Carrasquel in the third inning.

Saverine's was a liner, also to the opposite (right) field which was bobbled, momentarily. "Sav" went to second on the 2-bagger.

"Boog" Powell hit less in two trips (he left the game in the fifth) and had a hitting streak snapped at 11 games.

Walks to Frank Montgomery, Saverine and Ward loaded the bases with nobody out in the top of the first. After Ripken fanned, Johnson walked to force in a run.

Passed Ball

Then, Saverine scored on a passed ball.

The visitors chopped it to 2-1 in the second on a single by Ed Kopacz, a walk. Johnson's base hit and a double play. They tallied two more in the third. Barber walked and went to second when Anthony fumbled. The runners advanced on an infield out and then Carrasquel — brother of former major leaguer "Chico" Carrasquel — singled for two tallies.

The hit maintained a streak (now at nine games for him).

The final Dodgers tallies came home in the ninth. Gene Conaway was hit by a Chance pitch and finally went to first after quite a spell on the ground.

Barber put down a sacrifice bunt but Anthony dropped Chance's throw at first and both runners were safe. Barber, who joined the Dodgers, and claimed that the Orioles could have filled 75,000 seats had they been available in advance.

Baltimore gained revenge on an old nemesis, Whitey Ford, getting six of its eight hits off the southpaw who had beaten the Orioles in four of five decisions this season. Walt Dropp and Brooks Robinson each had two hits. Dropp contributing a home run.

It was Pappas' thirteenth victory against eight defeats.

Woodling Stopped

The turnout pushed Baltimore's season total to 1,079, a 392, an Oriole record. The crowd's only disappointment was the failure of Gene Woodling to prolong his 17-game hitting streak. The popular outfielder went hitless in four games at bat.

Pinch-hitter Earl Averill's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning broke up a 5-5 tie and set up the White Sox victory which lifted them within three games of the Yankees.

Gerry Staley, in relief, was credited with his twelfth triumph. Herb Score, who started for Chicago, was knocked out of the box in the first inning by the Tigers.

Score home run total to 33 with a 4-bagger in each game in Washington's double victory at Boston. His second homer of the night, with one on in the eighth of the nightcap, overcame a 2-1 Boston lead.

A pair of young right-handers, Don Lee and Ted Sadowski, posted the victories. Sadowski, in his first major league appearance right off the Charles W. V. farm, pitched three scoreless relief innings in the second game.

He fanned pinch-hitter Ted Williams with one on in the ninth. Williams had homered for Boston's run in the opener, his twenty-fifth of the season, and 517th of his career.

Thomas Loss May Prove Boon to U. S.

Rome —P— John Thomas' shocking defeat in the Olympic high jump may turn out to be the best thing that ever happened to the United States in track and field.

If Thomas, the biggest "sure thing" of the pre-Olympic picks, had won the high jump as expected many would have overlooked the most significant result of the competition. For it was the fine jumping by the entire Russian team that was the real eye-opener.

"We now have the most competent judges and official referees and we're sure they can do the job in the last two days of the boxing tournament," said Gillardi.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rites

Sacred Heart Catholic church was the setting for the 11 a.m. wedding today of Miss Beverly Ann Schink and David Paul Ebbs.

The Rev. Msgr. Emil J. Schmit officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass for the daughter of Mrs. Stella Schink, 1416 S. Kernan avenue, and Arthur Schink, 2500 S. Oneida street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ebbs, 853 Seventh street, Menasha. Wayne Schink, brother of the bride, gave his sister in marriage.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Verna Schink, Menasha, matron of honor; Mrs. Norbert Kropidowski, West Allis.

Miss Allen Married to J. H. Mielke

Miss Eileen Jane Allen, 304 S. Morrison street, became the bride of Joseph Mielke at 11 a.m. today. The double ring ceremony took place during a nuptial high mass at St. Patrick Catholic church, Lebanon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Allen, route 3, New London. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mielke, 1308 W. Lawrence street, are the bridegroom's parents.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Frederick Freiders. Another sister, Mrs. Robert Mathes, Hilbert, was bridesmaid.

James Mielke, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman was Frederick Freiders, brother-in-law of the bride. Roger Allen and James Hickenbotham ushered.

After a 1 p.m. dinner at the Elwood hotel, New London, a reception will take place at the American Legion Club house, New London.

The couple will reside at 13514 W. Sumner street.

The new Mrs. Mielke is a graduate of New London High school and is employed at the Wisconsin Telephone company, Appleton. Her husband graduated from Appleton High school and is employed by Central Wisconsin Motor Transportation company, Appleton.

'Guys and Dolls' Square Dancers Plan Season

The "Guys and Dolls" square dance club has announced its fall activity schedule. The club will dance Friday, Sept. 23 at Richmond school and on the first and third Fridays of following months. A beginners' class with William Sweet instructing, will be held from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Sunday evenings, beginning Sept. 11.

Many members attended the second annual Wisconsin state square dance convention at Wisconsin State college, Whitewater, Aug. 26, 27, 28. Host club was the Whitewater "Rhythm Rascals." Five college halls were used to accommodate the 5,000 people registered.

More than 75 callers from 11 states were present and over 200 state clubs were represented. Bands from Milwaukee and Madison played for the "Trail End" dance Thursday night.

Friday and Saturday morning panels discussed dancing and calling. A style show and dance were held.

Third Hand High Play Not Taken Literally

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Many bridge players have until the third round of the a mistaken idea of what is suit to take his king. This meant by "third hand high" may prevent your partner It doesn't necessarily mean from running his long suit. that the third person to play:

ter result if you play the queen at the first trick instead of the ace. If declarer fails to win the trick he has reason to fear he may never get another chance to take his king. He is persuaded to win the first trick, and you have thus discouraged him from holding up his king. When you gain the lead, you can cash the ace of partner's suit and then lead your deuce to give your partner the rest of his suit.

Another not-so high play by third hand should be part of the repertory of every good player:

When this hand was played at rubber bridge recently, West led the deuce of spades. East put up the king, and South won with the ace. See anything wrong so far? Everything seemed very normal to the players. South led the jack of hearts for a finesse, losing to the king.

At this point East had a terrible problem. If his partner had led from the queen of spades it was up to East to return a spade and defeat the contract with a spade trick. But if South had the queen of spades, it might be vital for East to shift to a different suit.

East huffed and puffed and finally returned a spade. South won with the queen of spades, drew trumps, and ran the clubs to discard the king and queen of diamonds. This allowed him to steal the slam contract.

"How could I tell?" East asked when the hand was over. West fumed and South smirked, but nobody had an answer.

Actually, East's correct play is standard in this situation. He should play the jack rather than the king of spades at the first trick.

East knows that South has the ace of spades; West would not be leading away from an ace against a suit contract. East doesn't know who has the queen of spades. He finds out by playing the jack.

If South wins with the queen of spades, East has his answer. He will shift to a diamond when he is given his trump trick.

If South has to win with the ace of spades, East has another answer. East will lead another spade when he is given his trump trick.

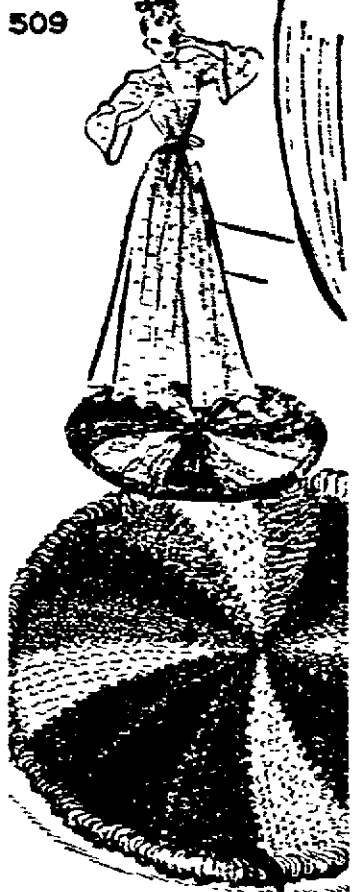

The correct play should be so automatic, in fact, that the opening leader should rely on it. When you lead a suit against a trump contract and your partner plays the king in third position, you should assume that he does not have the jack. In some hands it may be important to discourage in this way that declarer has the jack of the suit you have led.

Youth Given Reminder To Plan for Tomorrow

BY ANGELO PATRI

When Labor day was first set in the calendar its ob-shake off any inferiority feeling was sorely needed. The men and women who did the heavy work that sustained the industries, the very life of the nation, were op-question their school boards pressed, with long hours and low wages. They suffered in-being offered the coming justice that is hard to believe workers to enable them to today when labor no longer function in the new fields? It suffers under these conditions is time that the labor leaders but enjoy much better ones entered into the field of education and have the power to main-cation to ensure the preparation them. That not only is tion of youth for this sort of best for them but for the na-work. And of course the tion at large.

That does not mean there is no longer need for observance of labor's place in society. We are entering in a new field of industrial work. We are about to use new kinds of power which means new machines and new tools. These will make work lighter, easier on the workers, and it will mean that many of workers will have to learn new ways of working, new skills.

Some of the older workers will not want to take on this study. This is understandable. The younger generation must prepare to take over in their turn and this means that they must stay in school and learn all they can about electronics and atomic energy. all they can about the working of those wondrous machines that seem able to think—but don't.

Question of Brains No machine takes the place of the human worker because the machine is only as good as the brains behind the hands of the person who uses it. There are still some people who are so utterly blind to what they see daily as to believe that those who work with their hands are without high intelligence and that only the book-minded worker is so gifted. That is nonsense and I sincerely hope that the young people who go

Your Problems

Girl Asks Why She Lost Boy, Why He Continues to Avoid Her

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 and feel like a big failure in life. A certain fellow I know is absolutely the dream of every girl in school.

Well, it finally happened. He asked for a date I was in my glory. The next night he came over and we went for a ride. He said he was in love with me and wanted me to be his girl. I don't know what came over me, but I lost all my will power. I was putty in his hands and you can guess the rest.

He didn't call me the next day like he said he would. Two days passed and he still didn't call I couldn't stand it any longer so I phoned him. He said he was busy with his boat and would call me soon. He never did call. I've seen him at parties, at a ball game and on the street. He says "Hi" and goes right on.

Please don't bawl me out. Ann, I know what I did was wrong and also stupid. It didn't help me to keep the boy. It made me lose him. What I want to know is why?? After all, I did what he wanted me to. Please explain—The Phool

Dear Phool: The boy feels guilty and ashamed. He wants to forget what happened. When he sees you it's a reminder, so naturally he avoids you.

We all like people who bring out the best in us, not the worst. You made this boy think poorly of himself as well as of you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are friendly with several couples who have children from seven to 15 years of age. At the moment a heated argument is going on in the kitchen. Our 9-year-old daughter belongs to a dancing club. This club is putting on a recital to shapraise funds for a worthy for a party. The tickets are cause. Donna wants to sell 75 cents each. This will not tickets to our friends who break anybody and the cause be at our home next week is a good one.

My husband is against it. Donna and I are for it. What do you say?—Split Asunder

Dear Split: It's in had taste to attempt to sell anything to guests in your home. The price of the tickets and the worthiness of the cause are incidental.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The bride was given in marriage by her father during the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Frank S. Beck.

Mrs. Peter Peterson, Neenah, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Battle Creek, Mich., and Miss Jance Vanasten, Little Chute, were bridesmaids. Miss Kay Batley, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Attending the bridegroom was Paul Schmidt, Menasha, best man, Herbert and Gary Batley, both of Menasha, brothers of the bridegroom. Guests were shown to their places in the church by Larry Blank, the bride's brother, and Capt. Robert Johnson, Battle Creek, Mich.

The newlyweds will take a wedding trip through northern Wisconsin and Canada after a dinner and reception at the Appleton Legion club.

The new Mrs. Batley was graduated from Appleton High school and is employed at Aid Association for Luth-erans. Her husband was graduated from St. Mary High school, Menasha, and College of Advanced Traffic, Chicago. He is working in the traffic department of George Banta company, Menasha.

The young couple will live at 312 1/2 Third street, Menasha.

My husband feels guilty and wonders if he should call her and apologize.—Bystander

Dear Bystander: Your husband didn't bar his aunt from his home. He merely made it clear that she's welcome without the dogs. He's right and no apology is indicated.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be a Date Bait," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Family Diary

Though Tommy has had he is the only one of the children addicted to it—we never reached the point where we heroes of TV Westerns to did anything about it.

Bought Records The net result of this policy was not only that Tommy's conversation was punctuated with live talk but that he spent his hoarded summer savings for a dozen of Chum's records, so that the strains of "Rockpile Rock" and "The Bikini Song" were with us not only Tuesday night but all week round.

When he tried brushing his stubble of hair into a Champ-ley duck-tail, though, I had some words with him about it. "Chum Champley isn't an admirable person and I don't want you imitating either him or his hair-cut," I said. "Now get yourself over to the barber shop and tell Mr. Blake I want it cut short. Understand."

Tommy looked at me rather truculently before starting off. "You may not like Chum Champley," he said, "but I do. I think he's neat, man."

I suppose I could have argued with Tommy, tried to tell him that already rumors of "payola" were beginning to spread about Chum Champley, as they had spread about others in his field. Evans Declares Opponent Hinders Drive for Voters

Democrats Open Busy Day in County at Neenah Breakfast

Neenah — A charge of hindering the get-out-the vote drive was leveled against Sec. of State Robert Zimmerman, only Republican state officer, by his Democratic opponent, William H. Evans, at a Democratic county party breakfast at the Valley Inn this morning.

The breakfast opened a full day of stumping the county by Democrats. The day will wind up with a county party corn roast at Winneconne this evening at which Gov. Gaylord Nelson will be the featured speaker.

Sharing the breakfast program this morning with Evans were James Megellas, candidate for congressman from the Sixth district, and Robert E. Nordlander, Third district assemblyman candidate.

Unable to Attend
Scheduled to speak this morning but unable to attend was John Reynolds, incumbent attorney general, who instead gave his talk at a dinner at Oshkosh this noon.

Reynolds accused the Republican majority in the state senate of obstructing "the passage of legislation designed to preserve our free competitive economy."

He said Gov. Nelson and he had introduced into the 1959 legislature an "antitrust package" to make the state statutes on price discrimination conform to federal laws and eliminate confusion which he said results from different rules applying to the local and interstate aspects of the same commerce.

This bill also, Reynolds continued, would have made the state statutes civil in nature. This would have the effect of lessening the burden of proof in prosecuting a case and would have simplified and expedited enforcement, the attorney general declared. Private parties could enjoin unfair competitive practices and make violators subject to treble damages in private civil suits.

Cites Antitrust Actions
"Despite the archaic and inadequate laws on the statute books of Wisconsin, the office of the attorney general during the past 11 years has vigorously prosecuted antitrust violations, and more antitrust cases have been commenced than in any other comparable period in the state's history," Reynolds stated. He told of the many complaints his office receives from small businessmen being "squeezed out of business because of existing price discrimination practices."

Evans, a former Neenah resident and now a Milwaukee attorney, accused Sec. of State Zimmerman of "deliberately urging election clerks across the state to ignore a recent attorney general's opinion on registration."

"The present Republican secretary of state knows that he can only remain in office under the present situation of limited franchise, which would hinder full registration and deprive a half million Wisconsin residents from their right to vote," Evans said.

He referred to the rule by Reynolds issued Aug. 26, which approved a Kenosha registration plan under which the election clerk would "hire" employees without compensation for a city-wide door-to-door registration drive.

Megellas told the Democrats that in 1958 the party received a statewide majority in the primary for the first time in history and then scored a sweep in November. He called upon the county party members to work hard to elect a Democratic congressional member from the Sixth district as well as state legislators and county officials.

"Wasting Tax Dollars"
Nordlander charged the Republicans with "wasting hard-earned tax dollars of the people of Wisconsin. Under recent Republican administrations the state of Wisconsin has been forced to pay high interest charges on money borrowed through the subterfuge of the phony building corporation" which he said was in debt $57 million as of May 2.

He argues the cheapest way to get money would be to let the state go into debt legally. Declaring that $33 million of the $51 million for education was for state aids to local schools, "a Republican governor would have reduced about a surplus while the lo-the construction of an educational wing at the church. The estimated remodeling cost of about $1,500 includes general contracting, heating, plumbing and electrical work along with three new sinks, cupboards and worktables."

A committee of Mrs. Anna Looker, Mrs. Wesley Warnke and Mrs. Leonard Rowen will choose three women from the congregation to assist them in planning a dinner for the 75th anniversary of the congregation in October.

A luncheon to be served at a family night gathering in November will be planned by Mrs. Marie Puls, Mrs. Albert Hahn and Mrs. Clarence Bartelt.

Hostesses Thursday afternoon were Mrs. Albert Hahn, Mrs. Erwin Hass and Mrs. William Kester.

Bonnie and Bill Goesser, Brothertown, are among the Calumet county 4-H club members entered in the light horse and pony project division of the county fair running at Chilton for the weekend. They are members of the Working Woodchucks club.

'I Owe Them Everything' Young German Girl to End Stay in Bonduel

By Mrs. Norbert Boettcher
Bonduel — Irene Truebenbacher has the look of a pretty Wisconsin girl who is interested in everything about her, but the 23-year-old with the brown eyes, light brown hair in a neat pony tail living

Germany, about a half-hour train trip from Munich. She has two sisters and a brother. They moved to Freising during the war.

Working at the grade school gave Irene an insight into American education.

"It must be a pleasure to go to school in America. It is much different in Germany," she said.

Different in Germany
The German scholar goes to Oberralschule six days a week, eight hours a day from the time he is 11 until he is 17.

In his fourth year in school, roughly comparable to an American high school sophomore, a German scholar is required to take 16 subjects: German, French, English, natural science, biology, chemistry, physics, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, history, geography, religion, gym, art and music. Electives offered include book-keeping, typing and shorthand, violin and a fourth foreign language—Latin, Italian or Greek.

Graduation from the Oberralschule entitles the scholar to call himself a "little arbiter." He can go on to the university or become an apprentice. After three years at the university the scholar becomes an "arbiter."

Seek Good Times
Despite the differences in their schooling, German and American youngsters are about the same, Irene says. The friends she has made in America are just as interested in a good time as her German friends although the Americans' higher standard of living and the availability of cars allow them to do more things.

Irene was impressed with the young Americans' concern about religion and church attendance.

Tuesday, Irene's stay in America will come to an end. The Krueger family, including her cut down any awe she might have felt over the size of the country, she said. Irene to Milwaukee where she Irene's home is Freising, will board a plane for New York.

Part of Family
"I owe all I have experienced — everything — to Mr. and Mrs. Krueger," she said. "They made me feel like a part of their family and found my job for me."

Because of the Kruegers' thoughtfulness and because of her own warm personality, Irene was warmly welcomed in America and the kindness shown her cut down any awe she might have felt over the size of the country, she said. Irene to Milwaukee where she Irene's home is Freising, will board a plane for New York.

Priest Will Be Honored at Open House

Weyauwega — An open house in honor of the Rev. Willard McKinnon has been planned by St. Anne's sodality.

Father McKinnon, who will leave to organize the new St. Bernadette parish in Appleton, will be honored from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mrs. Celia Hayward.

Mrs. William Nienhaus and Mrs. Walter Niklaus are in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Rossey, Mrs. Mary Kriesse, Mrs. Hayward and Mrs. Estella Hodgden.

Another open house will be held during the same hours on the following Sunday at the home of Mrs. Hayward to honor the Rev. Mark Schmitt, the new priest at St. Peter.

Mrs. Frank Hafner are co-chairmen for the party, aided by Mrs. William Tessen, Mrs. Frank Strobel, Mrs. Niklaus and Mrs. Hayward.

The annual bazaar and dinner will be Sunday, Oct. 2, at Gerold's Opera house. Fancy work, food and baked goods, homemade candy, fish pond and a surprise package booth have been planned. There will be a "Christmas in October" booth.

Mrs. Leo Richter is general chairman and Mrs. William Crist, Jr., and Mrs. Rossey are co-chairmen. They will be assisted by Mrs. Niklaus, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Hafner, Mrs. Hodgden and Mrs. Roman Kraus.

E and R Women to Elect New Officers

Black Creek — The Women's guild of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will elect officers when it meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Miss Elsie Herman, Mrs. John Kluge and Mrs. Ed Kluge will be the hostesses. "Commitment to the Disciplined Life" will be the meeting topic.

York. She will be able to go sightseeing in New York for two days before she departs for Copenhagen and Munich.

Irene has promised her new American friends that she will make a return trip in not too many years.

New London Notes Record Valuation

Curb and Gutter Schedule Paving for Calumet Project

New London — New London's assessed valuation has reached an all time high of $11,468,225, according to George Groher, city treasurer-assessor, who announced that $414,975 has been added to the assessment rolls.

The city's assessed valuation last year was $11,053,250, which was about $7,575 lower than the 1958 assessment of $11,123,125. Each year before 1958 the city's assessed value showed gains.

The 1959 decrease was due to a $153,000 in manufacturing stock when Borden company converted into making cheese. Cheese is not assessable in the hands of the manufacturer. Other decreases were the movement of equipment to Wausau by Curtus Companies and the closing of the Knapstein Brewery.

Net Gain
Net gain in assessed value since 1958, however, is $345,100 over the 2-year span.

Some of the $337,675 real estate gain this year was due to the construction of the post office which is privately owned, the Barn O Matic factory, the new I.G.A. store and Dr. H. C. Schmallenberg building. The remainder was made up through the building of new homes and a $77,100 increase in personal property.

The biggest increase was in the real estate in the Wau-paca county portion of New London. It climbed $317,075 to $7,450,925 from $7,133,850 in 1959. This area's personal property also increased $77,100 to $1,626,025 from $1,548,925 in 1959.

Outagamie County
In the Outagamie county section of New London, the real estate assessment increased and the personal property decreased. Increases, however, offset the decreases.

Outagamie's real estate assessed value increased $27,100 to $1,890,325 from $1,863,225 in 1959. The personal property decreased $6,300 from $507,250 in 1959 to $500,950 in 1960.

The Waupaca county portion of New London's overall increase was $394,175. Outagamie county's increase was $20,800.

Greenville Catholic School Starts Classes

Greenville — St. Mary and St. Patrick parochial school opened Thursday with an 8 a.m. mass. There is an enrollment of 136 students taught by the Notre Dame Sisters.

Sister Josella, superior, will teach grades six, seven and eight. The fifth grade will be taught by Sister Carola. Sister Elise will teach the third and fourth grade. She is also organist and director of the choir. The first and second grade will be taught by Sister Judine.

Chilton — Paving of Calumet county's portion of the $128,488 E. Main street and County Trunk Y rebuilding project will begin between Sept. 16 and 23. Eldred Hedrich, head of the Hedrich Construction company, has announced.

Hedrich's firm is sub-contracting for the Reliance Construction company. Sheboygan, which was awarded the contract by the state highway commission. Hedrich has been placed in charge of preparing the street for hot mix.

Curb and gutter has been installed from the eastern limits of the improvement job to the railroad crossing in downtown Chilton. This constitutes about one-half the project's overall length of 1.6 miles.

This is the first curb and gutter in the history of Gravesville as well as along a major portion of the newly curbed area.

Sub base surfacing work from the east city limits to the Main street bridge should progress more rapidly now that the utilities companies have all but completed the necessary underground work, Hedrich said. Construction workers were delayed somewhat when relocation of the telephone lines fell behind schedule, he added.

All inlets and storm sewer connections should be completed within a week.

Pavement still to be removed includes a short stretch in front of the Chilton Canning company entrance left from that canning operations would not be hampered; the portions of Main street immediately in front of its intersection with Park and State bank building.

Pavement removal in those areas will be done next week and the torn up areas covered with base surfacing, Hedrich said.

Work in general is about 10 days behind schedule but, weather permitting, the entire length of street and county trunk will be paved before winter.

Other Streets
Whether Park and Brooklyn streets are paved before winter depends on the city council, Hedrich said. The city's original contract with the Reliance Construction company called for the paving to be done this year. However the council once considered leaving the streets settle for one year. Such a move would necessitate renegotiation of the contract, according to George Winkler, chairman of the street committee, who added that he felt the paving on two streets would be completed in conjunction with work on Main street.

Don't Use Reserve Land, Warns ASC Chairman Malchow
Oshkosh — Farmers have continuing responsibility to refrain from using any of their land in conservation reserve during their contract periods, reminded Henry Malchow, Neenah, chairman of the Winnebago county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

"Even though we are not authorized to take new land into the conservation reserve," said Malchow, "there have been no changes in the regulations concerning land retired from production under existing contracts."

"The farmer is being paid an annual rental for compliance with his conservation reserve contract, and in most cases has already received his payment for a part of the cost of establishing a conservation practice on the land. In return, he is obligated to withhold the land from production for the life of the contract," Malchow concluded.

More than 10,000 acres of cropland on 159 Winnebago county farms are in conservation reserve. Of the contracts, 136 are for whole farms' croplands. Some will be held out of production through the 1969 season.

Summer Schedule Will End at Embarrass
Embarrass — Worship will be at 8 a.m. Sunday at the Embarrass Congregational church. This will be the last service in the summer schedule with the service on Sept. 11 beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Services at Zion Lutheran church will be at 7:30 and 10:30 a.m.

Strange Paper Plans to Build

Receives Permit For $15,000 Office, Storage Addition

Menasha — A building permit for a 64 by 71 foot office addition was issued to John Strange Paper company by Allen E. Merrill, building and plumbing inspector.

Permit valuation is given as $15,000.

The company has begun construction of the addition, at the east end of the present office building. It will provide increased facilities for the technical and sales departments and for storage and handling of samples.

Paul Noifke was given a permit to build a 76 by 26 foot lumber storage shed at 145 Kaukauna street on land owned by Wisconsin Lumber company. Value was given as $3,000.

Ladies' Aid Sets Fall Plans

Schedules Dinner For 75th Anniversary Of St. Paul Church

Fremont — A $10 donation to the home for aged Lutherans was made by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul Lutheran church. Mrs. Anna Looker reported on the Lutheran Women's Missionary league bi-annual conference with Mrs. Carl Borhardt; and on the Camp Luther retreat with Mrs. Walter Warnke.

The members will participate in a project of saving strips from coffee cans to earn a coffee maker.

Carl Liebert, architect of the McMahon Engineering schools, "a Republican governor would have reduced about a surplus while the lo-the construction of an educational wing at the church. The estimated remodeling cost of about $1,500 includes general contracting, heating, plumbing and electrical work along with three new sinks, cupboards and worktables."

A committee of Mrs. Anna Looker, Mrs. Wesley Warnke and Mrs. Leonard Rowen will choose three women from the congregation to assist them in planning a dinner for the 75th anniversary of the congregation in October.

A luncheon to be served at a family night gathering in November will be planned by Mrs. Marie Puls, Mrs. Albert Hahn and Mrs. Clarence Bartelt.

Dr. Hildebrand To Head State Heart Drive

Menasha Physician Heads Campaign to Collect $578,000

Menasha — Dr. William B. Hildebrand, 59 Racine street, has accepted the state chairmanship for the Wisconsin Heart association's 1961 fund drive, according to Dr. J. C. Peterson, Milwaukee, association president. The annual campaign is held during February.

Dr. Hildebrand maintains a general and industrial medical practice in Menasha. He is the physician to Marathon division of American Can company.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin in St. Louis, Dr. Hildebrand is the advisor on school health in the Menasha public school system. He is the immediate past president of the Wisconsin State medical society, a member of the American Medical association's commission on the cost of medical care and the committee on post graduate medical education.

Dr. Hildebrand is a former chief of staff and head of the department of medicine at Theda Clark Memorial hospital, Neenah. He also is a past national president of the American Academy of General Practice.

Dr. Hildebrand served with the United States naval air corps and was a flight surgeon during World War II. He saw overseas duty in the South Pacific and China.

In announcing Dr. Hildebrand's acceptance as state campaign chairman, Dr. Peterson said $538,025 was collected during the 1960 Heart fund campaign. The tentative campaign goal for 1961 has been set at $578,000, for the Heart association's research, community service and professional education programs.

Railway Express Not Permitted to Close Wrightstown Office

Madison — The public service commission Friday denied a proposal by the Railway Express agency to close its office at Wrightstown.

The firm contended that discontinuance of passenger train stops at the Brown county community made it too difficult to continue agency service. It suggested handling shipments from nearby Greenleaf.

However, the commission said Railway Express should consider using a truck line to move shipments in and out of Wrightstown.

Ashwaubenon Town Wants to Build Wall on Fox River

Green Bay — A petition for a rehearing before the state public service commission on its denial of the town of Ashwaubenon application for a bulkhead line (wall) on the west shore of the Fox river was made Friday.

Co-incidental with the town's action was the PSC's announcement that it issued a permit for the Fort Howard Paper company, located in Ashwaubenon, to build a coal boat dock on the river.

The request for a rehearing on the bulkhead line denial was sent to the PSC by town attorney Donald Soquet.

Ashwaubenon had proposed designation of a bulkhead line which would run the entire length of the town from the Green Bay city limits on the north, where the present inner harbor line terminates, to the city of DePere on the south. The Fort Howard mill is at the north end of the town.

Support Arguments

In seeking a rehearing on the bulkhead matter, the town contends that the denial is "unlawful and unreasonable." Officials hold that statements in the commission's denial order actually support the town's arguments.

In denying the proposed bulkhead line, the PSC ruled that it does not conform as nearly as practical to the existing shoreline and that it would not be in the public interest.

Fort Howard Paper company's application to construct a 1,200-foot dock was the subject of an Aug. 22 hearing before the PSC in Madison. It involved extension of the harbor line from the south Green Bay city limits to cover the part of the paper mill property involved in the dock project.

The new dock would replace an east-west slip about 300 feet in length, which would be filled in. The firm told the commission that the present slip is no longer adequate and that navigation problems are created by the need to turn boats into the slip and the fact that boat sterns extend beyond the slip into the river.

Used Kin's License, Appleton Man Fined In Menasha Court

Menasha — Gerald Graham, 20, 2126 W. Second street, Appleton, was fined $35 by Police Justice Arthur J. Ales after pleading guilty to two charges. He was arrested Sunday on Third street.

Oliver C. Wordell, past president of the Valley council, was toastmaster. Glenn Vandey, chairman of the East district, Little Chute, presented the Scout executive with a gift.

Attempted Rape Investigated

An attempted rape is under investigation by Sheriff Robert Heimritz. A 19-year-old girl told County Patrolman Stanley Arnold that a 33-year-old man took her for a ride about midnight Thursday and attacked her on a lonely road outside Shiocton.

The girl and her companion were offered a ride from a Shiocton drive-in, she told police. The man took her girl friend home, then drove past the girl's home and out of the village.

After a struggle in which the girl was partially disrobed, an oncoming car frightened the attacker, the girl told police. She ran to the car and her attacker fled the scene.

Investigating later, after the passers-by had taken the girl to Shiocton, police found the attacker's car gone.

Heimritz has sent out a statewide arrest order.

Need Thorough Sessions 33 Report for Grid Drills at New London

New London — Only 33 there are not enough reserves Washington High school boys to fill holes.

Coach Dehlinger reported that the success of the team will depend largely on how fast the reserves shape up. He said a number of the reserves may start crowding some of the returning lettermen.

The seniors have Dick Emmerich, Art Plowman, Dick Stern, Gary Herres, Dan Grunwald, Ernie Bruns, Dave Hutchison and Cliff Danke as returning lettermen, Gary Hilker, who received a letter last year, also is scheduled to report for action.

Letterman Hurt

The team also suffered a setback as Don Hanold, a returning junior letterman, fractured a collar bone in the opening dummy tackling practice.

12 Regulars

The Bulldogs, however, will field a good team this year as eight senior lettermen and four junior regulars will form a solid unit. Injuries, however, could change the outlook as:

Other returning junior lettermen are Ken Hoffman, Dave Emerich, Dan Laux and Mike Herres.

Wittenberg Wins Western Softball League Playoff

Wittenberg — Wittenberg won the Western Softball league playoff championship from Andy's Sales by a 7-4 margin as the victors unloaded for all their runs in the second inning with help of bunts and clutch hitting of Aamonsen and Kroll. They held the game in check from there despite homers by Andy Anderson and Vic Seefeldt, Sr. Butch Sabrowsky took the loss and Bob Kroll hurled the distance for the win.

In first round playoff action, Andy's Sales and Wittenberg won over Springbrook and Steinkes respectively.

Elmer Block had the Wittenberg team stymied for five innings but then they broke loose for 10 runs and a 10-1 win. Den Breaker also hurled for the losers, while Butch Nosen took the victory. Aamonsen's single with the bags will be offered at Menasha High school. The first weekly blow in Wittenberg's big session is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 12.

Andy's pecked away at Ker-lum, John Hoffman and Mal-lum enroute to an 8-1 win over Springbrook as Sabrowsky was the winning chucker.

OSC Offers Music Class in Menasha

Oshkosh — A music course for elementary school teachers will be offered in Menasha this fall by the Oshkosh State college extension division, according to L. O. Tetzlaff, college registrar.

The course, which will satisfy requirements in music methods for either lower or upper elementary teachers, will be offered at Menasha High school. The first weekly session is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 12.

The 3-credit course, listed as music 202, will be conducted by Dr. Stanley Linton, professor of music.

Directions Given for Making Clever Wire Jewelry Pieces

BY CAPPY DICK

You don't have to have a kit of tools to make jewelry of wire. A hammer and a pair of pliers will do nicely. As for the wire, copper wire is better than common picture wire, but any fine wire will be satisfactory.

First, try making a bracelet of braided wire. If the wire is very, very fine, use 12 or 15 strands, or even more if you want the bracelet to be quite wide. The strands should be two times the circumference of the finished bracelet. Lay all the strands together. Have someone hold them at one end, while you braid. Divide the strands into three equal bunches. Braid these three bunches as you would three single strands (Figure 1).

It is important to keep the strands of each bunch flat as you braid—that is, avoid overlapping the wires of the bunch; instead, try to keep them side by side. It is also advisable to make a loose braid.

When the braid is long enough, bring the two ends together and form them into a neat bow knot as in Figure 2. If the tips of the wires are annoying, turn them under with the pliers, or pound them flat with a hammer.

A ring is made in the same way, except that fewer strands—six, for example—are needed. Braid them in the same manner. A colored bead may be slipped over the strands as in Figure 3 for a jewel.

If you have some very heavy wire it will be fun to make a coil bracelet or ring. First pound one end of the coil with the hammer until it is flat and shaped like a snake's head. (Figure 4) Then form the coil by winding the wire around a rolling pin, for a bracelet, or around a drumstick, or any round stick of similar size, for a ring.

HOUSE PAINT

Painly Odor!
It's right over damp surfaces!
It's in less than 30 minutes!
It's to apply... just flows on!
It's blistering, peeling...
It's "leeching" to allow vapor to escape!

It's an up with soap and water!
It's dazzling bright!

It's come in for color cards,
prices, all details!

Voter Registration Project Opposed

Mitchell, Broehm Balk at Door-to-Door Volunteer Plan

BY REINHART WISSING

A group of Appleton citizens is promoting a door-to-door voter registration for the November general election, but thus far has run into opposition from city hall.

William Cherkasky, a member of group, has talked to Mayor Clarence Mitchell and City Clerk Elden Broehm, but says he was told by the two officials they are not in favor of the idea.

Mrs. Robert Griffiths, president of the League of Women Voters, says she is sure many league members would back the project and volunteer to work on it. "It would be in keeping," she says, "with the league's program for active, informed voters."

Cherkasky said Broehm would deputize about 50 non-partisan volunteers, possibly city employees, to canvass the city under the plan. Eligible persons not registered would be registered on the spot.

Fear Errors
Mitchell and Broehm both said they fear too many errors would occur because of the inexperience of volunteer registrars, causing confusion at polling places and in the clerk's office.

Broehm has said he doesn't think the council or anyone else can order him to deputize volunteers and "force me to give away the powers and duties of my office."

Mrs. Rose Schroeder, Republican campaign headquarters chairman, said the party has not discussed any door-to-door project. Voter registration is combined with the party's get out the vote campaign, she says.

Lester Balliet, Outagamie county Democratic party chairman, said his organization is in favor of the plan.

Mayor Eugene Hammond, Kenosha, told Mayor Mitchell that the Kenosha council has ordered the clerk to deputize 50 volunteers.

Hammond issued a challenge to Appleton to conduct a similar project to see which city could have the most registered voters by Oct. 26.

Note Apathy
Mayor Mitchell said he wanted to check the legality of the project because the law states voter registration shall be done in the clerk's office or any other place he may designate. But the idea of making every home a potential voter registration place does not seem possible, the mayor thinks. Atty. General John Reynolds has ruled the door-to-door plan is permissible.

Mitchell says if citizens are not interested enough in the election to register they probably aren't interested enough to vote, either.

If a door-to-door registration campaign was conducted, Mitchell believes a maximum of 10 per cent of the new registrants would go to the polls.

Cherkasky believes at least 75 per cent would vote.

He reasons that registration is something many people look on as a tasteless, time-consuming task put off until it is forgotten.

Campaign Stimulates
But once registered, he contends, the spark of the campaign and all the oratory will give them stimulus to vote.

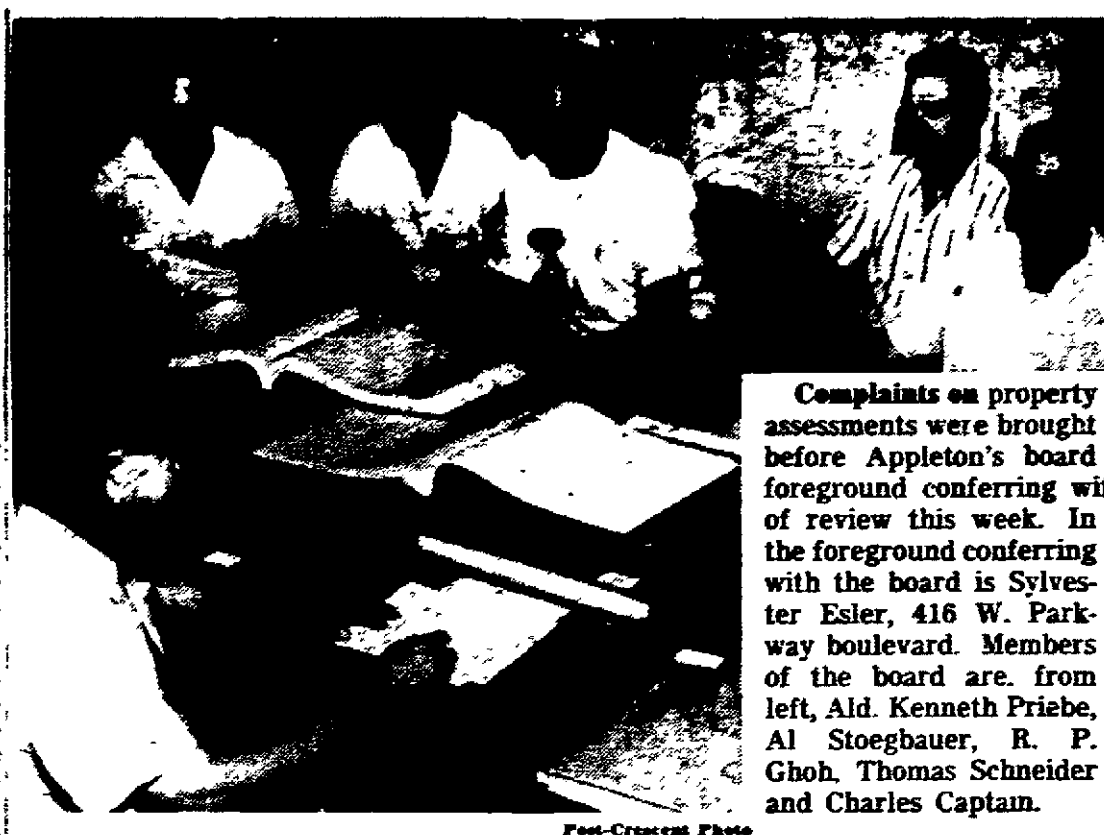

Being registered and knowing they can vote also will stimulate more interest in the campaigns, he believes.

Mrs. Griffiths said the league has not undertaken to sponsor a door-to-door registration because of a heavy schedule of fall activities.

But, she reported, her organization is hoping to operate voter registration booths in the business district, probably in the banks, for several weeks before the Oct. 26 registration deadline for the November election.

"We have approached City Clerk Broehm, asking that some of our members be deputized, but have not received a reply," she says.

Mrs. Griffiths also says her group has volunteered to work in Broehm's office on voter registration if he needs help.

Contrasts of Old, New Beckon Mexico Visitors

Visiting Mexico City? If your trip is worth taking, it's worth planning and a few minutes reading on background information about Mexico, its history and customs will reap interesting dividends for that exciting vacation you'll remember for years to come.

Mexico City's exciting contrasts of the very old and the very new beckon alluringly to the new visitor even before he is half unpacked—but take it easy and don't attempt to see or do everything the first day or you might spoil your entire stay.

It takes more energy than you realize to adjust to Mexico's altitude—it's 7,300 feet above sea level. The new visitor to this famous capital will sometimes feel uncomfortable and short of breath after his arrival. Most of the time he'll blame something he ate when more than likely it's the altitude coupled with an attempt to do too much.

Different Values
Mexicans have a different scale of values as far as time is concerned, so neither expect or want to be served with speed. Meals usually take about two hours to be prepared to dine leisurely and plan your schedule accordingly.

For the ladies: the traveling suit with its many changes of blouses, sweaters and accessories is ample for almost all but the most formal Mexico City functions. Add a few light-weight dresses, especially one or two of the versatile, short-sleeved, button-down shirts for sightseeing trips and luncheons. Hats or other head coverings are a must for visiting churches and cathedrals, and a pair of walking shoes are indispensable.

One hint, however—do not wear slacks, shorts or halter on the streets at all—except in Acapulco. Evenings in Mexico City are a dressy affair—with jewels, furs and the latest in fashions on display.

Men have an easier time wardrobe wise. However, they have to wear coats and ties in bars, restaurants and hotels. Evening clothes are not necessary.

Brothers Hurt In Auto Crash On County Road

Oshkosh — Two brothers were injured when the car in which they were riding went off County Trunk P in the town of Menasha at 5:17 a.m. today.

Injured were Thomas E. Rudesill, 25, 745 Broad street, Menasha, who received a concussion and was to undergo x-rays this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, to determine if there were further injuries.

His brother, Michael, 23, route 1, Gresham, received lacerations about the head and bruises to his left leg.

Winnipeg county police investigating the accident said the car which was going north-east on P, went off the wrong shoulder of the road and traveled 213 feet. The car rolled over several times in the next 102 feet ending up against a utility pole.

The car was a total wreck. The two brothers were taken to the hospital in Lindy's ambulance.

Money Missing

Henry Bartz, Appleton Labor Temple bar operator, told police Friday that the cash register at the bar was rifled of about $80 near noon. Police are questioning several customers in the bar about that time.

will serve any occasion except at a formal party in a private home or diplomatic reception. Bargaining is an accepted practice in the native markets and in small shops, although the large stores have a 1-price policy as in the U.S.

Taxis in Mexico City may be obtained from regularly established stands called "Sitios" which are throughout the city, and at the principal hotels. They are a bit more expensive than the cruising type which are recognized by signs reading "Libre."

Buses are available in all parts of the city, and unlike American cities, first-class buses will not permit additional passengers when all seats are filled. Fares range from 20 to 40 centavos, about 2 to 4 cents American.

Tipping Same
Tipping is the same as in the U.S.—10 to 15 per cent depending on the service and where you are. However, never tip less than 50 centavos for any service rendered—it's only about 4 cents American money.

Permits Taken For $1½ Million In Construction

Building Inspector Walter Bogan issued 115 permits in August for construction valued at $1,571,358.

This compares with 121 permits in July for $818,357, and 125 in August, 1959, for $410,362.

One reason for the higher construction value this August were three permits averaging more than $50,000 each. They were for the city's new swimming pool, $550,000; the Visiting Nurse association home, $359,944; and the new Appleton Building and Loan office, $370,000.

Next largest amounts were for 13 residences without garages, $157,000, and 11 residences with garages, $192,000.

The building inspector's office collected $667.75 in fees—$442.75 for the 115 building permits, $217 for 69 heating permits, and $8 for three sign permits.

Looks Like Fine Weather For Holiday

Prospects for a good Labor Day weekend, at least as far as the weather is concerned, appeared good today in the wake of early forecasts.

Indications are that some rain may fall, possibly Sunday, but otherwise the forecasts see not a hint of other disturbing activity. Somewhat cooler air is scheduled to wrap itself

Youth Charged After 2-Car Collision

Joseph F. Verrier, Jr., 17, 412 W. Parkway blvd., was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way after his car collided with one driven by Alvin L. Jaeger, 35, 1131 E. Byrd street, about 7:30 a.m. today at Drew and Grant streets.

Jaeger received ankle and arm injuries. His car skidded almost 45 feet, and Jaeger told police Verrier apparently didn't see him. Verrier told police he stopped for the stop sign, but did not see Jaeger's oncoming car on the through street.

Susan King, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, 523 N. State street, received an injured back when she ran into the street from behind a parked car and was hit by an auto driven by Mrs. Laura Schultz, 715 N. Harriman street. Mrs. Schultz told police the child appeared before her car and she could not avoid hitting the girl.

Adlai to Talk At Milwaukee

By The Associated Press
Adlai Stevenson will give his first major address in support of Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy in Milwaukee Saturday.

He will talk at the second annual testimonial dinner for Gov. Gaylord Nelson. The dinner will be a $50 and $100 a plate affair, with guests having a choice of buying either ticket. Proceeds will go to Nelson's reelection campaign fund.

Milwaukeean Drove Car Into Culvert; Passenger Injured

Waupaca — Owen C. Smith, 40, Milwaukee, driver of a car which crashed into a concrete culvert on Highway 54, five miles west of here at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, was fined $200 by Police Justice George Whalen Friday for drunken driving.

Passenger Harold Olson, 41, Milwaukee, was reported in fair condition at Waupaca Memorial hospital. He suffered severe head injuries and a knee laceration.

Smith, who received a cut in the crash, said he and Olson had been drinking in several Bancroft taverns since 8 a.m. He said they later drove to Waupaca and were heading for Stevens Point when the car left the road.

County police said the auto traveled about 160 feet in the ditch, careened off a telephone pole and rammed the culvert.

Smith testified the car belonged to a friend who did not know they had it. It was wrecked, police said.

Smith will spend 60 days in jail if he fails to pay.

200-Mile Oil Pipeline May Doom Tankers

Milwaukee — Plans to build a 200-mile petroleum products pipeline costing $19 million from the refineries at the foot of Lake Michigan to Milwaukee and the Fox river valley cities were revealed Friday by 10 major oil companies.

For many years, gasoline, fuel oil, diesel oil, kerosene and other petroleum products have been transported on Lake Michigan by tankers.

The 16-inch pipeline, which would parallel the west shore of the lake along the Chicago and North Western Railroad, right-of-way, eventually may replace the fleet, but shipments will be made by water for some time. The line would have a capacity of 150,000 and 175,000 barrels per day, city officials were told.

Mrs. J. B. Delbridge, Kaukauna, Succumbs After Long Illness

Mrs. John Bertram Delbridge, 85, of 216 Desnoyer street, Kaukauna, long active in several organizations, died at 6:20 p.m. Friday after a long illness.

She was born in Batavia, N. Y., on March 9, 1875, and moved in 1898 to Kaukauna, where her husband was the first bookkeeper for Thilmany Pulp and Paper company.

Mrs. Delbridge was a charter member and first worthy matron of Odile chapter No. 184 of the Eastern Star and Grand Martha of the year 1910 of the state organization. She also was a 40-year member and past high priestess of Valley shrine No. 10 of White Shrine of Jerusalem and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Surviving are one daughter and a son.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Kaukauna Methodist church.

Car Stolen

Len Mitchell, 345 S. Pine street, Kimberly, told Appleton police early this morning that his 1948 dark green Chrysler sedan was stolen early indication that it would from the St. Elizabeth hospital parking lot. Mitchell left the keys in the ignition lock.

School Attempts to Soften Delinquents

Superintendent Tells Appleton Teachers About Wales Institution

The job of the state school for boys at Wales is not to make delinquents tougher but rather to soften them, Roland Hershman, superintendent of the school explained Friday. To accomplish this, the school uses kindness, for most delinquents know how to cope with punishment but not with kindness.

Speaking to Appleton public school teachers as part of the teacher orientation program, Hershman said the Wales school, opened in April, 1959, gets boys with whom every other agency—school, church, parents and the community—have failed.

A few of them have been pampered and spoiled, but most have been mishandled. They come from homes of all economic levels, he said, but more are poor than rich because there are more poor people than rich people in society as a whole.

Gives Example
Hershman gave examples. The boy whose father was too busy earning money and mother too busy spending money to have any time for him. When he got into trouble to gain attention, they said, "Why have you done this to us?"

The boy's father was a good provided but beat his children and then kept them out of sight of neighbors, so his actions would not be known.

The boy whose mother ignored him until he died and she read in a newspaper that his friends had collected money to pay for his funeral.

All juvenile boys committed to state institutions as delinquents are sent first to Wales, Hershman explained. There they are given medical and dental checkups, social workers talk with them, psychological and achievement tests are given and in some cases boys are referred to a psychiatrist. Information also is received from the boy's home town.

After 30 days, officials decide where he should go. A few go home, if they have good homes and "stumbled into trouble" through associations with other youths.

Those who are more delinquent and neglected than others are put in foster homes. Some are sent to private institutions. Psychotic boys are sent to the state mental hospital at Mendota and mentally defective ones may be sent to a state colony.

Few to Reformatory
From 2 to 3 per cent of the boys, who are considered to be possible bad influences on other boys at Wales, are sent to the state reformatory. This is a "harsh step," taken only after much deliberation, Hershman said. Boys' school officials don't want to make their institution a prison for the minority, he explained.

The others remain at Wales

Man Wants to Go Back to Jail; He Makes It With Horn

Marvin W. Zierer, 63, who gives his address as 212 W. Twelfth street, Kaukauna, is back in the Outagamie county jail. He was released last week had some drinks and appeared at the jail Wednesday demanding to be readmitted.

The jailer declined, so Zierer went behind the courthouse to the parking lot, sat in a car and honked the horn at 3 a.m. He was back in jail shortly.

Acting Municipal Judge Stanley A. Staidt said Zierer will be in court Wednesday under a charge of being a repeater under the disorderly conduct statute.

Dairy Cooperative Says Current Bills Needed by Farmers

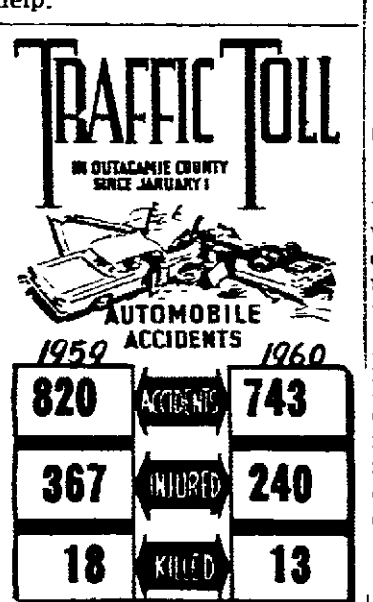

Fond du Lac — Pure Milk Products cooperative today requested President Eisenhower to give favorable consideration to bills passed by the senate and house which would increase dairy farm support prices from $3.06 to $3.22 for manufactured milk.

In a telegram to the president, Paul Affeldt, president of Pure Milk Products, pointed out that this 5 per cent raise in minimum support for milk is badly needed by dairy farmers of Wisconsin and the nation to meet increasing costs of farm operations.

General manager William C. Eckles today said that the president saw fit to raise support prices in 1956 to $3.25 per hundred weight when he was a candidate for the presidency. "This was at a time when the present secretary of agriculture (Ezra T. Benson) was also in office," Eckles declared. Increased production costs, plus increased imports of cheese from the Netherlands and Italy, sanctioned by the president, make an increase in support price minimums to the dairy farmers an urgent necessity, Eckles pointed out.

(In debate on the bill in the house Thursday, Rep. John Byrnes, who opposed the measure, and Rep. Melvin Laird, who favored it, made special note that Wisconsin milk producers now are receiving 12 cents more than the minimum support price.)
